WAR BEGINS TODAY IS NOW BELIEF OF ALL ITALY

FULL POWERS GIVEN TO MINISTER OF WAR

Italian Chamber of Deputies Scene of Wild Cheering as It Prepares for Plunge Into Conflict

BULLETIN.

Amsterdam, May 20.—"No one in Italy any longer doubts that war begins today," is the text of a telegram sent from Chiasso, Switzerland, under date of Thursday (today) and printed in the Berliner Tageblatt.

BULLETIN.

Paris, May 20.—(3:50 p. m.)—Reports have been received here from Rome that the Italian chamber of deputies, by virtually a unanimous vote, today granted full powers to the minister of war.

BULLETIN.

Rome, May 20.—(Via Paris, 6:45 p. m.)—Premier Salandra introduced a bill this afternoon in the chamber of deputies conferring on the government extraordinary powers in case of war. A committee was named to give this project immediate consideration.

WAR ADVOCATE IS CHEERED.

Stirring Scenes Mark Session of Italian Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, May 20.—(5:20 p. m.)—The Temps publishes a telegram from Rome, dispatched at 3 o'clock, in which the correspondent says: "All the galleries of the chamber of deputies were crowded at 1 o'clock, some time before parliament re-assembled. There were 450 deputies in their seats. Only one incident marked the opening of the session; that was when Gabriel d'Annunzio entered the gallery. All the deputies stood up and shouted 'Viva d'Annunzio. Viva Italia.' (d'Annunzio is known for his very radical stand for war).

Two or three social deputies protested to this demonstration to d'Annunzio but their voices were lost.

"Signor Morora, president of the chamber, took his place at 3 o'clock. All the members of the house and everybody in the galleries stood up to acclaim the former follower of Garibaldi.

"Then Premier Salandra, followed by all the members of the cabinet entered. It was a solemn moment. Then a delirium of cries broke out. 'Viva Salandra' were the words and the cheering lasted for five minutes. Premier Salandra appeared to be much moved by the demonstration.

"After the formalities of the opening, Premier Salandra arose and said: 'Gentlemen: I have the honor to present to you a bill to meet the eventual expenditures of a national war.'

"Prolonged applause followed this announcement. The premier then began an exposition of the situation of Italy before the opening of hostilities in Europe. He declared that Italy had submitted to every humiliation from Austria-Hungary for the love of peace. By her ultimatum to Serbia, the premier said, Austria had annulled the equilibrium of the Balkans and prejudiced Italian interests there. Notwithstanding this evident violation of the treaty of the triple alliance, Italy endeavored during long months to avoid a conflict, but these efforts were bound to have limit in time and dignity. 'This is why the government felt itself forced to present its denunciation of the triple alliance on May 4,' said Premier Salandra.

"These declarations were received with great applause which the premier tried to quiet. When he had succeeded in so doing he said: 'Italy must be united at this moment when her destinies are being decided.'"

ELKS CELEBRATING SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Many Visitors in Attendance from Surrounding Lodges.

Delegations from surrounding lodges began to arrive shortly after noon, Thursday, to be in attendance at the silver anniversary of Fort Wayne lodge, No. 155, B. P. O. E., which promises to be one of the biggest events in the history of the local organization.

The exercises began at 2:30 o'clock, when several candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order. At 5:30 o'clock a concert will be given by the Elks' band to be followed at 6:30 o'clock by the banquet at which Major G. Will Wilson will act as toastmaster.

The speakers of the evening and their subjects are as follows: Charles A. Betzler, "Fellowship;" Edward G. Hoffman, "To Our Charter Members;" Judge Walter Olds, "Fidelity," and Charles A. Bookwalter, ex-mayor of Indianapolis and a former resident of Fort Wayne, "Auld Lang Syne."

The local order of Elks was organized in the winter of 1889. On February 12, 1890, the lodge was instituted with imposing and sometimes wierd ceremonies in the Odd Fellows' hall in what is still known as Harmony hall. Some five or six months later the new lodge moved its habitat to the third floor of the building across the alley, next south to the Tri-State Trust company's present quarters, which it continued to occupy until December 3, 1895, when it moved to the Lau building, southwest corner of Calhoun and Washington streets, upon which it had secured a ten-year lease. The new lodge rooms in the Lau block were magnificently furnished. With larger quarters the entertainments became more frequent and likewise more comprehensive and the membership grew correspondingly.

The present magnificent home of the Elks was moved into on November 20, 1908, and was formally dedicated December 30-31, 1908, and January 1, 1909. The occupancy of the new temple stimulated every member into renewed activity and from a membership of 507, six and one-half years ago, it has grown to 2,025, which is the membership at the present time.

FIGHT ON SAN IS UNDER WAY

Russians and Teutons Are Again Locked in Terrific Combat.

BERLIN DECLARES FOES ARE REPULSED

Artillery Duels Continue Only Activity Along Western Front.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Renewed efforts against the Turks on Gallipoli peninsula have been undertaken by the French and British, with the object of capturing the important strategical position of Krithia. The French are reported to have landed troops to advance against this position in conjunction with a movement from another direction by the British. By thus attacking simultaneously from two sides the allies hope to surround the Turks.

The predicted great battle along the San in central Galicia, apparently is already under way. The official announcement from Berlin today speaks of heavy fighting near Przemysl, which is said to have resulted in great losses for the Russians. Several victories in the north, over the fighting front near the east Prussian border also are claimed by the Berlin war office.

The interval of comparative quiet in the western front has not been broken, so far as the official announcements from Paris and Berlin indicate. The Germans report a slight gain in the Lorette hills.

The British trawler Chrysolite has been sunk by a German submarine in the North sea, off the Scottish coast. The crew was saved.

Berlin, May 20.—(Via London, 11:30 a. m.)—The German army headquarters staff today gave out the following statement:

"In the western theater: Gloomy and hazy weather hindered active fighting in Flanders and northwestern France yesterday. We made a little progress in the Lorette hills. At Ablain a night advance attempted by the enemy was repulsed after hand-to-hand fighting.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle artillery duels were especially fierce. At daybreak the French commenced an attack to the east of Ailly over a wide front, but were everywhere repulsed, in certain sections after hand-to-hand fighting.

"In the eastern theater: We had no engagement with the strong forces of the enemy reported to be advancing on the line of Shadora-Frauenburg. Russian forces advancing south of the Niemen were completely defeated at Gryeszkabuda, Symtwoty and Szaki. Remnants of the enemy's force are fleeing into the forest. Minor divisions are still holding Sutki. The losses of the Russians in killed were very heavy and the number of prisoners for this reason increases by only 2,000. Two hundred and four more machine guns were captured.

"In the southeastern theater: Our troops which penetrated across the San river north of Przemysl again were attacked by the Russians in a desperate assault. The enemy everywhere was repulsed with very considerable losses. This morning we opened a counter attack on one of his wings and stormed the enemy's position. He is fleeing as quickly as possible."

GETTING SOME COMFORT.

English Experts Profess to See Rift in Clouds.

London, May 20.—(12 M.)—The wave of depression which has been sweeping England for the past few days, following the receipt of war news regarded as unfavorable was checked today by the definite announcement of the decision of the government to form a coalition cabinet together with better news from the eastern front.

It is believed here that the Russian advance near Shavli, in Courland, the line of forces of Emperor Nicholas have been straightened out, will do much to counter-act the effect of the Austro-German advance in the vicinity of Przemysl across the river San. The military writers in the morning newspapers claim that only one out of fourteen Russian armies has been in deadly danger, and that Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the Russian forces in the field is playing his usual strategic game of drawing the enemy away from his base.

Petrograd maintains that forty Austrian and German army corps have been used during the fighting of the past fortnight against the center of the Russian line along a front measuring 100 miles.

Reports from Athens set forth that the allies have occupied the Turkish position of Kilid Bahr on the European side of the straits and opposite Chanak.

SALESMEN URGED TO BOOST FORT WAYNE

Will Meet With Manufacturers and Jobbers Friday Evening.

For the purpose of affording the salesmen who travel out of Fort Wayne an opportunity of getting acquainted with the heads of the various jobbing institutions and manufacturing establishments in the city, a meeting will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Anthony hotel.

Albert G. Leitch, of Cleveland, O., who makes a specialty of this kind of work, will be the principal speaker and will explain the methods that should be pursued in a campaign that the salesmen will be urged to wage for boosting Fort Wayne.

One of the big objects of the meeting, which may result in a permanent organization being formed, is to instill in the salesmen the great good they can accomplish as they go from town to town by boosting. He will point out that a salesman should boost other Fort Wayne houses as well as his own. Efficiency among salesmen is another object of the meeting.

Besides Mr. Leitch there will be short talks by a number of jobbers, manufacturers and salesmen. There also will be a buffet lunch and smoker.

BURGLAR STEALS A DOZEN FANCY CAKES

A burglar whose taste ran to interior decorations, pried open two doors in the storeroom on Calhoun street opposite the Cathedral, and occupied by the Scherer Baking company and a wall paper store, and proceeded to decorate his interior with the choicest cakes in stock. What meant wall paper to him, or even a cash drawer, when cakes were there? so he cleaned the show cases and finally the window of its dainties. Officer Kammer, who is on the beat, evidently knew nothing of the robbery, for the turned in no report, and the store was opened before the gaping vacancy in the stock was found. A dozen cakes were stolen.

FIRE DESTROYS CAR BARN AT LAFAYETTE

Fourteen City Cars Also Consumed in Early Morning Blaze.

Fire of a mysterious origin burned to the ground between 4 and 5 o'clock Thursday morning one of the storage barns of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company at Lafayette, together with fourteen city cars. The loss is fully covered by insurance which the company carried with Schrader & Wilson, of this city.

Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the company, went to Lafayette Thursday afternoon to conduct an investigation. He was accompanied by Ed M. Wilson, who will estimate the loss.

Mr. Greenland stated Thursday morning that the building burned had been used for storage purposes only and so far as he knew there had been no fire in it for some time. The flames had a good start when they were discovered and the firemen devoted their entire time to saving the surrounding buildings.

"Louise," the beautiful brake-test car, valued at $10,000, was destroyed in the fire. This car had been in possession of the company for three years and was considered one of the most beautiful and expensive in the United States. The furniture and trimmings were of solid mahogany.

THREE COTTAGES AT ROME CITY BURNED

(Special [illegible]e Sentinel.)

Rome City, Ind., May 20.—Three cottages and an auto shed on the mainland were destroyed by fire about 6 o'clock this morning as the result of an explosion of a gasoline stove in the cottage of J. D. Hale, of Decatur.

The cottages burned belonged to Barney Neibers, Dr. C. F. Clark and J. D. Hale, all of Decatur. The auto shed was the property of Fred Moore, of Albion.

Mr. Hale had spent the night in his cottage. After lighting the gasoline stove about 6 o'clock he went out for a few minutes. When he returned he found his cottage in a mass of flames. On account of the high wind the blaze spread rapidly to the other cottages. Most of the contents were also consumed.

In an effort to extinguish the blaze Mr. Hale was painfully burned.

ENDS LIFE IN PRISON CELL

Alleged American on Trial as Spy is Suicide in London.

SLATE CARRIES FINAL MESSAGE

Kuepferle Preferred Death by Shooting; Couldn't Stand Gallows.

London, May 20.—(10:14 a. m.)—Anton Kuepferle, who claimed to be an American citizen who once lived in Brooklyn, and who has been on trial charged with giving military information to the enemies of Great Britain, committed suicide last night in Brixton prison. He is reported to have hanged himself.

When court opened this morning for the resumption of the trial the attorney general, Sir John Simon, announced the death of the prisoner to the judges.

"Since the rise of this court last night," the attorney general said, "this man Kuepferle has committed suicide in Brixton prison. He was in a special cell under practically continuous observation, but during one of the short intervals he seized the opportunity of taking his own life."

Last Message on Slate.

Warden Cook produced in court a slate on which the prisoner had written a last message. His communication follows:

"To whom it may concern: My name is Kuepferle and I was born in Rastatt, in Baden. I am a soldier with a rank I do not desire to mention. I can say I have had a fair trial in the United Kingdom, but I am unable to longer stand the strain and I take the law in my own hands. I have fought many a battle and death is the only savior for me. I would prefer death by shooting, but I do not wish to ascend the scaffold as (here the prisoner drew a Masonic sign) and I hope the Almighty architect of the universe will lead me in the unknown land. I am not dying as a spy, but as a soldier. I stood my fate as a man, but I cannot be a liar and perjure myself. I ask you kindly that my uncle, Ambrose Droll, of Rastatt, be notified of my death. I desire that all my estate go to him. What I have done was for my country. I express my

TO DISCUSS CANAL'S COMMERCIAL VALUE

Important Meeting Will Be Held in New York Friday

Whether or not the proposed canal between Lake Erie and Lake Michigan will be of sufficient commercial value to warrant its construction by the federal government is a question which is expected to be definitely answered at an important meeting in New York on Friday.

Gathered in the chamber of commerce to discuss the proposition will be representatives of the Merchants' association of New York, the New York chamber of commerce, the New York board of trade and transportation, the New York produce exchange, the New York state waterways association, the Boston chamber of commerce and the Chicago association of commerce.

P. A. Randall, who has been from the first the leading local exponent of the proposed waterway, believes the New York meeting will have a tremendously important effect upon the project which is now under consideration by the government.

WILSON PRAISES ATLANTIC FLEET

Washington, May 20.—President Wilson's impressions of the Atlantic fleet which he reviewed at New York early this week were set forth in the following statement issued at the white house today upon the president's return:

"I was greatly struck by the appearance of the fleet and the quiet efficiency shown by the officers and men, as I am sure every one must have been who had the pleasure of seeing it assembled at New York. There could have been no more interesting verification of Admiral Dewey's statement that the navy was never in a better or more efficient condition and that the country has every reason to be proud of it not only, but every reason to wish to go forward in its policy of steadily adding to its strength and equipment."

PUTS COLONEL ON THE GRILL

Barnes Attorney Subjects Ex-President to Artistic Lambasting.

HE THE JEKYL-HYDE INSTEAD OF BARNES

Noted Libel Action is in Jury's Hands in Court at Albany.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 20.—William M. Ivins, chief counsel for William Barnes in his suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt, concluded his address to the jury today by assailing the former president as being the real possessor of a "Jekyl-Hyde personality" instead of Mr. Barnes.

At the afternoon session Justice Andrews planned to deliver his instructions as the final proceeding before the jury began its consideration of the case. Mr. Ivins in his address said:

"Mr. Barnes didn't have that dual personality. It was this defendant who possesses it. He wanted to do up the Mr. Hyde in Mr. Barnes. So he appointed him to office twice. And when he wanted to defeat race track legislation he called in this man who was struggling between two personalities. The defense sets up that it was wrong for Mr. Barnes to interest himself in the defeat of that bill. And they overlook the fact that it was this defendant as president of the United States who asked him to do it and when this libel was written this defendant wanted to kill Mr. Barnes.

Two Main Exhibits.

"There are two main exhibits in this case. One of them is the defendant; the other is the plaintiff. If Mr. Barnes hesitated on the witness stand it was because he wanted to be sure about things that happened many, many years ago. Look at the defendant; what did he do? Why, he sprang from his chair on one occasion as if it was about to get away from him. He put electricity out of business. He talked with his hands, his feet and his face. His personality was all over the jury box; it permeated the room.

"What right," Mr. Ivins asked, "had this defendant to don the yellow robe of master of morals? He says he cast off Mr. Barnes. The evidence is that Mr. Barnes refused to support him any

CLASH WITH COURT AS BAILEY STARTS

Chief Riggs Bank Counsel Has Hot Tilt With Justice McCoy.

Washington, May 20.—Argument in the Riggs bank injunction suit against Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams started off in the district supreme court today with a clash between former Senator Bailey, chief counsel for the bank, and Justice McCoy. Mr. Bailey threatened to withdraw from the case and Justice McCoy threatened to refuse to hear the lawyer's argument.

Senator Bailey was arguing for the admissibility of affidavits disclaiming relations between the bank and Lewis Johnson & Co., bankrupt stockbrokers. Justice McCoy interrupted to say he had already ruled it would be admitted and that further argument only took time.

"Your honor has taken more time than I intended to take for what I intended to say," replied Mr. Bailey.

"Your remarks are highly improper," returned the justice. "Please understand that distinctly. I do not care for any more discussion. Another remark of that kind and some other counsel will argue this case."

Mr. Bailey tossed his papers to the

SAYS SALOON IS A MENACE

Must Go Because of Its Control in Politics, Says Mr. Thieme.

NEW CONSTITUTION NEED IS POINTED

Judge Eichhorn and Other Speakers Urge It in Ft. Wayne Meeting.

Because the saloon is one of the controlling factors in politics and in the framing of legislative mattera. Theodore F. Thieme in an address Wednesday evening at the citizens' meeting held in the assembly room of the court house declared most emphatically that the saloon must go.

Mr. Thieme said that the public utilities could never have secured such a stranglehold on the government without the aid of liquor, which he characterized as a serious menace to the country. Mr. Thieme's address will be found in full on another page of The Sentinel.

Judge W. H. Eichhorn, of Bluffton, was the first speaker of the evening. He gave a number of reasons why in his opinion the constitution of Indiana should be rewritten.

The meeting, which was held under the auspices of the Citizens' leaague, was called to order by Flavius J. Young, former county superintendent of schools, who introduced Attorney William N. Ballou. Mr. Ballou spoke briefly in which he urged that more thought be given of matters pertaining to better citizenship. Other speakers were Frank Hilgeman, secretary of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange; Mrs. C. S. Ridenour, president of the Allen County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and Ross F. Lockridge, secretary of the Citizens' League of Indiana. Charles Butler represented Joseph D. Shaw, president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor.

Address by Judge Eichhorn.

Judge Eichhorn declared that there is a lack of interest in the movement for a new constitution for the reason that so many do not realize this is the very thing necessary to remedy existing conditions against which there is so much complaint. All agree that the present system of taxation is wrong; political conditions are bad; there is something wrong with city government in Indiana, and that reform is needed in the courts, but the people don't seem to understand what method to pursue to rectify these conditions. There is little hope for improvement, the speaker explained, until the constitution is revised.

Judge Eichhorn told of the attempt that had been made to amend the constitution when twenty-two amendments were presented in the legislature. It takes more than amendments, the speaker said, and the only way to bring about the desired results is to re-write the constitution in its entirety.

The present constitution was written in 1851. Since then conditions are so much different that there is no way of making a comparison, the speaker declared.

Under the present constitution a foreigner is permitted to vote in Indiana providing he has lived in the United States one year, while an American-born citizen must live here twenty-one years before he is given that privilege. The question of a woman having the right of suffrage should at least be submitted to the people, Judge Eichhorn said.

In the opinion of the speaker too much of the time of the legislature is taken up in matters of interest to only one or two cities in the state. He would remedy this condition by permitting cities to form their own method of government insofar as the affairs of the city itself is concerned. He said that the people of the state should have a right to say whether they favor the initiative, referendum and recall. He cited the case of the Vigo county judge who is in Leavenworth penitentiary and cannot be removed from office until such time as the supreme court has passed upon the impeachment proceedings filed with that body. He is still receiving his salary, five dollars of which, however, goes to the judge pro tem who is serving until such time as the old judge can be removed and a new judge appointed or elected. Such a condition would not exist with the recall, he said.

Legal Reform Needed.

Judge Eichhorn devoted much time to the imperfections of the present system of courts and the slow legal procedure. He recommended but one court of review consisting of twelve judges, abolishing both the supreme and appellate courts. He also recommended qualifications for lawyers before they be permitted to practice law. Under the present constitution a lawyer is required to take practically the same oath as an applicant for a saloon license, he said. In closing, Judge Eichhorn made a forceful appeal for modernizing the constitution and urged the people to take more interest in the campaign that is being waged to bring this about.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY IS SUGGESTED AS ROUTE

Liberty Bell May Be Taken to Exposition in an Automobile.

Various Fort Wayne organizations have been asked to assist in the movement that has been started to have the Liberty bell taken to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco over the Lincoln highway. The matter was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Fort Wayne Lincoln highway committee at the Commercial club.

Strong arguments are brought to bear by those advocating the trip by road rather than that by rail as was originally proposed. The Lincoln highway is directly available to some 60 per cent of the population of the United States, the route passes through over four hundred cities, towns and hamlets and the citizens for miles around would pour into the route cities to witness the historic passage of the famous bell, for the trip, should it be undertaken as proposed, would be historic. A new crack has been recently noticed in the side of the bell and it is doubtful if another trip will ever be taken.

The whole question turns upon the fact that the bell must be transported in absolute safety. Officers of the Lincoln Highway association claim that they can absolutely guarantee that the bell can be delivered in San Francisco without a mar or a scratch.

At the meeting Wednesday evening Van B. Perrine and A. L. Randall were named to put up the new steel Lincoln highway signs, recently purchased by the club, between Fort Wayne and Churubusco, and J. W. Bell and Martin H. Luecke were assigned the same duty on the portion of the highway in Allen county east of the city.

While at Indianapolis, Thursday, to attend the ceremonial of Murad temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., Postmaster Edward C. Miller will meet Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, and extend to him an invitation to attend the celebration to be held in this city the fore part of June. Acceptances have been received from A. R. Pardington, of Detroit, secretary of the national association, and Carl Fisher, of Indianapolis.

ODD FELLOWS GAIN 502 IN MEMBERSHIP

Indianapolis, May 20.—Jesse Macbeth, of Fort Wayne, will be elected grand master of Indiana Odd Fellows by the grand lodge now in session in this city.

W. H. Leedy, grand secretary, recommended that the grand lodge authorize the appointment of a special agent whose duty will be to assist weak lodges in building up their membership. The order shows a net gain in Indiana for the year of 502. The membership last December was 84,546. The number of lodges in the state is 757.

The amount paid out in relief for the year aggregates $350,990.61. The number of members relieved was 4,203 and the number of families relieved was 169. A total of $8,093,492.66 has been paid out in relief in Indiana since the organization of the order in this state in 1837.

The Grand lodge building committee, since last November, has authorized the erection of lodge buildings at Arcadia, Milton, Dunfee, New Harmony, Dupont and Ashboro.

ARGUES LUSITANIA WAS LAWFUL PRIZE

Amsterdam, via London, May 20—(6:01 a. m.)—Numerous incorrect statements regarding the Lusitania which have appeared in the German press are pointed out by Captain Knezelwetter in the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger. He declares the Lusitania was not an auxiliary cruiser, "but she was a hostile vessel and therefore a lawful prize.

"The cargo was composed mainly of contraband," the writer continues, "and was liable to condemnation. Under the law a ship and cargo, if it is impossible to tow them into a harbor, can be destroyed. Moreover, the crew could be classified as franc-tiereurs, thus standing outside the law and making their lives forfeit.

"Every German vessel is justified in expecting an attack contrary to law from every British merchantman; even if unarmed, for the British government has encouraged such attacks by offering rewards for them. Therefore, every British ship with its crew is liable to destruction lawfully."

ITALY TO DECLARE HER POLICY TODAY

Rome, May 20.—Austria's final proposals have been rejected unanimously by the Italian council of ministers and the two nations are a step nearer war. The Italian parliament assembles today and a declaration of the government's policy is expected.

The minimum demands made upon Austria in behalf of Italy by Foreign Minister Sonnint were:

First—The cession of the entire province of Trent (part of the Austrian Tyrol; according to the frontier of the kingdom of Italy in 1881).

Second—Eastern Friueli, comprising Malbergeth, Plezzo, Tolmio, Gradizica, Goritz, Monfalcone, Comen and as far south as Nabresini.

Third—Trieste, Cap d'Istria and Rirano (the last two in Istria) to forn a new state independent from Austria.

Fourth—The islands of Curzola, Lissa, Lesina, Lagosta, Cazza and Meleda (off the coast of Lower Dalmatia) to be ceded to Italy.

Fifth—The abandonment by Austria of her interests in Albania, acknowledging Italian sovereignty over Avlona.

Steps in Negotiations.

Diplomatic documents which disclose each successive step in the negotiations which resulted in Italy's denunciation of her treaty of alliance with Austria and Germany are contained in the green book issued by the Italian government. This history of diplomatic interchanges begins with a telegram sent by Foreign Minister Sonnino to the Duke of Avarna, Italian minister at Vienna on Dec. 9, 1914, instructing him to notify Count von Berchtold, then Austrian foreign minister, that the Austrian advance in Servia constituted a fact covered in article 7 of the triple alliance treaty entitling Italy to compensations. Count von Berchtold replied that his opinion did not agree with this view but on December 20 intimated that he had begun to change his mind. Baron Burian, who succeeded Count von Berchtold, tried to evade any definite expression of opinion.

The Duke of Avarna in January telegraphed that Austria evidently was trying to get in time but that she undoubtedly was being pressed by Germany. On March 9 Austria consented to discuss compensations. Foreign Minister Sonnino laid down the cardinal points of the Italian demands. Baron Burian answered that Austria would not accept. Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador in Rome, on March 20, in the name of Germany, guaranteed the execution, after the conclusion of peace, of any agreement made by Austria. Signor Sonnino agreed to resume negotiations on the condition that Vienna would make concrete proposals. Several days later Baron Burian asked Italy to give formal agreement to the following clauses: First, the maintenance of a benevolent, political and economic neutrality throughout the war; second, Austria to have a free hand in the Balkans; third, the renunciation on the part of Italy of any further compensation, and fourth, the maintenance of the existing Italio-Austrian accord concerning Albania. On April 2 Baron Burian added that in exchange for these pledges Austria would give to Italy the districts of Roveredo, Servia and Trentino, as well as a few villages.

Signor Sonnino replied he considered these demands contemptible; nevertheless they were permitted to stand.

The rumors of a separate Austro-Russian peace persisting, Rome asked Vienna for a definite answer. In reply Vienna added a small zone in the province of Trent to the Italian compensation. On April 25 the Duke of Avarna reported that the Austrian government did not believe Italy ever would make war, and that consequently Vienna regarded a continuance of the discussions as useless.

On receipt of this report Signor Sonnino denounced the alliance with Austria-Hungary.

GARRISON IS OUT FOR PREPAREDNESS

Secretary of War Tells Mohonk Conference It is U. S. Duty.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 20.—The problem of armaments which has evoked more discussion than any other question before the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, was brought to the front again today by an address of Secretary of War Garrison. The secretary's topic was "The Problem of National Defense," and he left no doubt of the fact that he favored strengthening the national defenses and making the United States ready to protect itself from any and all aggression.

"I am utterly out of sympathy," he declared, "with the idea that we should neglect or postpone consideration of what is now the existing condition, because of a hope or a belief or even conviction that it may be altered, even radically altered in the future."

"The Roots of War" were discussed in a paper by Oscar S. Straus, of New York, formerly minister to Turkey. Mr. Straus was unexpectedly called home yesterday but his paper was read by the secretary. "One of the great curses of war," he said, "is that it settles by force, and what is settled by force is seldom, if ever, settled justly, and because such a settlement is not just it leaves behind it the dragon teeth of future conflict."

Other speakers were Hamilton Holt, of New York, editor of the Independent, and John B. Clark, professor of political economy in Columbia university. They talked about the feasibility of a league of peace.

SEES JACKIES SEWING SHIRTS FOR SAILORS

Nixola Greeley-Smith Has a Look at Uncle Sam's Atlantic Fleet.

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)

New York, May 20.—I looked at the grim gray battleships, the sleeping beauties of the Atlantic fleet, as they lie at anchor in the North river and decided that like nearly everybody else in New York I wanted to go out and look one over from top to bottom and tell you just what life on a battleship is like. They're all here for the big review.

So we went out to Admiral Fletcher's flagship, the Wyoming. "We" were my sister, one of my best friends, Mrs. Bearss, wife of Capt. H. L. Bearss of the U. S. marine corps, the nice captain of a battleship now at Norfolk, Va., and myself.

At the foot of 79th street we were met by one of the flagship's launches. We recognized Col. Benjamin H. Fuller, who had come to meet us. Col. Fuller commands the marines of the Atlantic fleet.

Once aboard the Wyoming the members of the party settled themselves in the senior officer's ward room, a long, comfortable place filled with books and pictures and magazines but with two shiny five-inch guns at either end.

Then Commander Cyrus Miller took me over the Wyoming and as she has eight decks and about 1,200 men aboard you can imagine that it was some journey.

We went to the bread room, a sort of large pantry filled with row upon row of freshly baked bread. I saw the bread cut by machinery and along side it a butter machine turning out 20 squares at one chop—enough butter for one mess, the commander said.

Then I saw the storeroom filled with canned goods, tea and coffee and huge bunches of bananas. There I read the Wyoming bill of fare for the next week. There was a typewritten slip for every day and the meals made one's mouth water.

On the Sunday preceding the men had pork and beans, oranges, coffee, and bread and butter for breakfast and chicken gumbo soup, roast chicken, two vegetables and ice cream for dinner.

Next I saw the printing office where all the orders and the program for this review were printed; and where the enlisted men issue their own magazine. 'The Coyote," so-called because the coyote is one of Wyoming's distinguished citizens. There I was presented with a copy of the first issue—for the Coyote was only born this May and I was interviewed by one of the editors who asked me all about my impressions of the battleship.

Aft on this deck Jack Tar and Miss New York were dancing. About us everywhere were row after row of ditty boxes, the square, unpainted wooden receptacles where the sailor boys kept their dearest treasures. One Jackie volunteered to show me what was in his ditty box.

'If you have a girl in every port I'm sure it's full of pretty photographs," I said to him. And he answered with a wistfully smile. "Well, I'll show you."

So he opened the ditty box and I saw in it neatly piled letters in a woman's faded writing, a program of athletic events and just one photograph, that of a sweet-faced woman with parted gray hair and sad, lovely eyes.

"My mother," said the young sailor dropping his voice. "She died at our home way out in Iowa last year. These are her letters to me."

Later on I saw the tailoring establishment where Jack has his clothes made and mended. It looks very funny I can tell you, to see one of our sailor boys pedalling away at a sewing machine while two or three shipmates waited about with garments to be repaired.

Then I looked down a dizzy space—we were on the second deck and there were six decks below to where the torpedoes are kept.

And the thought of those torpedoes sobered me. It was queer to realize, so suddenly, that this flagship so full of gayety with its dancing sailors, its thronging visitors, its holiday air is ready for grim war at any moment. Back in the officers' wardroom we found them telling stories. Here is a story a captain told of the visit the late King Edward of England paid to his ship once when it was at Cowes.

"He was then Prince of Wales," the captain said, "and he came aboard with his two daughters, The Princesses Victoria and Maud. The visit passed off perfectly. We had dressed the yards in honor of the royal visit, that means—he explained for the benefit of the landlubbers present—that we had men in the rigging.

"As the prince and the princesses were going down the gang plank and we were all congratulating ourselves that the royal visit had ended so successively the silence was so intense that you could hear a pin drop. But a pin didn't drop. Instead a high Yankee voice came out of the rigging as a scornful jackie took a birdseye view of the retreating royalty.

"'Thank God, we haven't got any of THEM THINGS in OUR country,' he said."

SMACKED SPEED LIMIT ALL TO PIECES—TWELVE TIMES IN THREE BLOCKS.

Evanston, Ill., May 20.—"He was speedin'," charged the cop—"twelve times in three blocks, yer honor."

"Whatchamean, twelve times in three blocks," demanded the judge, "did you read his speedometer?" "Naw," said the cop. "I read his oculameter; he kissed the girl twelve times in three blocks, and that's strainin' the speed limit some in Evanston."

"Five and costs," announced the judge. "Kissing bug's a dangerous bug at any time, but a kissing buy in an automobile is too dangerous to run at large. Next time it will be jail."

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Psalm 30:1-12.

1 I will extol thee, O Lord; for thou hast lifted me up, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou has healed me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave; thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.

4 Sing unto the Lord, O ye saints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.

5 For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperity I said, I shall never be moved.

7 Lord, by thy favour thou hast made my mountain to stand strong; thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 I cried to thee, O Lord; and unto the Lord I made supplication.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? Shall the dust praise thee? shall it declare thy truth?

10 Hear, O Lord, and have mercy upon me; Lord, be thou my helper.

11 Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing; thou hast put off my sackcloth, and girded me with glad-ness;

12 To the end that my glory may sing praise to thee, and not be silent. O Lord my God, I will give thanks unto thee forever.

Keeping Up the Fight

Opponents of constitutional revision in Indiana who cherished the belief that the question was definitely and finally laid upon the shelf by the refusal of the voters last year to authorize the calling of a constitutional convention are doubtless willing by this time to admit that they were mistaken. The meeting held in Fort Wayne Wednesday night under the auspices of the Citizens' League of Indiana, in which men and women of all shades of political belief argued the necessity for a new and modernized constitution for Indiana was but one of a series of similar meetings that are being held all over the state, and their sponsors make it clear that the fight will be continued uninterruptedly until victory is won.

As a matter of fact, the educational work along this line now being done is doubtless of much more value than that attempted during the heat of a political campaign, with party issues and party candidates serving to detract from a thorough and unbiased consideration of a matter that is of much more vital importance to Indiana than can be the outcome of any single political campaign. While emphasis has from the first been placed on the fact that the movement was wholly non-partisan and that it sought only better government and a larger measure of popular rights for the people, it was impossible to entirely divorce the effort from the campaign issues in the minds of the people. There was lack of sufficient time to make the campaign for the new constitution broadly educational, and coming as it did in the thick of the political fight it utterly failed to command attention commensurate with its importance.

The between-campaign propaganda now being carried forward by the Citizens' League, however, affords both time and opportunity for a thorough study of the proposition and an accounting of the benefits in governmental improvement held out by a revision of the state's basic law. It may now be considered without the suspicion of political design and without doing violence to your enthusiasm for any candidate or any party platform. The Sentinel trusts the Indiana voter will not fail to take up serious study of the need for the new constitution under these circumstances. It is his clear duty as a citizen to inform himself upon the question, for he is going to be confronted with it at the next election, and indeed at as many succeeding elections as shall be necessary to thoroughly convince the people that in retaining the present archaic constitution they are denying themselves progress in government that is rightfully theirs and that they should be enjoying.

Bills agreed upon in the Illinois legislature will provide some $2,750,000 for highway improvement in that state within the next two years. One of the things both states and counties are effectually learning nowadays is that judicious expenditure of funds for highway improvement is not an expense but an investment that is certain to yield rich returns. The country has never known an era of enthusiasm and liberality in road-building such as that which is now upon us, and it would be difficult to imagine a movement from which more benefit and more progress will result.

Both Italy and Austria have taken time by the forelock and asked the United States to look after their respective diplomatic affairs in Vienna and Austria in the event of a new outbreak of the world war that it now seems impossible to avert. American embassies and consulates in all the countries at war are now exercising their good offices in caring for the interests of various belligerents and the assortment of duties of this character we have taken on is an amazing one. The role of friend to all of them, however, is infinitely to be preferred to being at war with any of them.

Speakers before the national conference of charities and corrections at Baltimore argued that what has come to be known as the injunction and abatement law—placing punitive emphasis on the property owner and not the inmate—is the most effective measure yet devised to fight commercialized vice. It must be admitted, however, that a determined crowd of authorities who are in earnest in their purpose to stamp out commercialized vice are not to be sneered at for real efficacy under almost any law that may be at their disposal.

Statistics gathered by County Agent Henry are said to show that one out of every four Allen county farmers is the owner of an automobile. It is but a very few years since the farmer was credited with being the sworn foe of the automobile, whether, as a matter of fact, there was any basis for such suspicion or not. The farmer has been in no wise behind the town dweller in appreciating the tremendous value of the auto car in meeting modern needs of transportation, and he is wisely proceeding to avail himself of its advantages.

An Allen county man has been sentenced to jail by Judge Link, of the DeKalb circuit court, for failure to obey the court's order to support his children after he had secured a divorce from his wife. It is evident that dereliction of this sort isn't in any higher favor in De Kalb county than it is right here at home.

It will occur to the average man that Mr. Barnes might as well have saved his witnesses. Everybody is willing to concede that no one ever was a boss of T. Roosevelt successfully.

OUR NATIONAL WEALTH.

(Indiana Daily Times)

The United States is the richest country in the world. Statistics just issued by the census bureau in Washington places our national wealth at $187,739,000,000, or $1,965 for each man, woman and child in the country. Of course these figures are not accurate in that they are far below the country's actual wealth, but they are of absorbing interest since they indicate the stupendous resources of our country which is looked upon as one of the youngest of the nations.

Some of the figures given out in the bureau's report are as follows:

The total wealth of New York, $25,011,000,000, is the greatest shown for any state, while Illinois and Pennsylvania, with $15,484,000,000 and $15,458,000,000, respectively are close rivals for second place. Other states which rank second place. Other states, which rank high in total wealth are Ohio, with $8,908,000,000; California, $8,464,000,000; Iowa, $7,868,000,000; Texas, $6,860,000,000; Massachusetts, $6,303,000,000; Missouri, $5,842,000,000; New Jersey, $5,749,000,000; Minnesota, $5,547,000,000; Michigan, $5,427,000,000, and Indiana, $5,195,000,000. No other state is credited with as much as $5,000,000,000.

When the comparison are applied on a per capita basis, however, a very different showing is made. The highest per capita gure for wealth in the hands of individual and commercial organizations—that is, exclusive of the non-taxable property owned by govermental, educational, charitable and religious institutions—is given for Nevada, $4,865. Next in order come Iowa, with $3,345; North Dakota, $3,210; California, $3,113; Nebraska, $2,954; Montana, $2,743; Colorado, $2,668; Kansas, $2,525; Oregon, $2,523, and Illinois, $2,507. In no other state was the figure as high as $2,600. Only three states—Illinois, California and Iowa—for which the total valuations were high also per capita figures.

That assessed valuations do not, in themselves, furnish any index to the actual wealth of the various states is brought out in a striking manner by a table showing the ratios between assessed and estimated true valuations of property throughout the United States. These ratios vary from 11.7 per cent in Iowa to 100 per cent in New Hampshire and Wyoming. In eleven states they are 33 1-3 per cent or less; in twenty-four states, 50 per cent or less, and in thirteen states, 66 2-3 per cent or more.

AMERICANS

(Kansas City Star)

The tone of the newspaper comment from every part of the United States demonstrates what every American knew in advance, that the country is united behind the president.

Americans of native parentage probably never will fully appreciate the distress which circumstances have brought on fellow Americans of German ancestry Their generous recognition of the obligations of patriotism is the more gratifying because of the strain under which it comes.

Whatever our ancestry or parentage we are about to demonstrate to the world once more that we are all Americans by virtue of our allegiance to that noble body of principles for which true Americanism stands.

POISON IN FOOD SAMPLES.

State Food and Drug Chemists Make Startling Announcement.

Indianapolis, May 20.—Chemists of the state food and drug department have reported that they found large quantities of various deadly poisons in samples of flour, dough, bread and pies sent to them by Dr. A. T. Fagaly, health officer of Dearborn county. An investigation will be made in an effort to determine whether the flour was poisoned purposely or by mistake. A number of persons are said to have become ill as a result of eating the products of the flour, but the poisons were discovered before enough was consumed to cause any deaths, it is believed.

ENDS LIFE IN PRISON CELL

thanks and may the Lord bless you all. Yours, etc. KUEPFERLE."

On the other side of the slate the man had written: "I was born June 11, 1883."

Wanted Court Martial.

It appears that Kuepferle made every effort to obtain a trial by court martial knowing that if sentenced to death by a military court he would be shot, whereas civil court's sentence would mean death by hanging. It was stated that after yesterday's hearing in camera, Kuepferle realized the hopelessness of his position and preferred suicide to the gallows.

The attorney general, Sir John Simon, added that three letters produced in yesterday's session all contained information calculated to be of use to Great Britain's enemies. The session was closed with the expression of satisfaction by Lord Reading, the lord chief justice, at swiftness with which the letters had been detected and their author traced and arrested.

"There is no doubt as to the character of the communications," he said. "It was quite clear the prisoner had been at the front and was longing to be there again."

The Warden's Testimony.

Chief Warden Cook, who is in charge of the prison, has testified that last night the night patrol officer, a warden named Perry, came to him and said: "I cannot see the prisoner." Warden Cook immediatel yarose and opening the cell door he found the prisoner hanging by the neck from a ventilator in a corner behind the door. He had used a silk scarf to commit suicide and he was hanging clear of the floor. Warden Cook cut the scarf and summoned the prison doctor. The man's body was still warm, but he could not be revived.

The trial of Anton Kuepferle began Tuesday at the Old Bailey police court before Lord Chief Justice Reading and Justices Avery and Lush. The proceedings were public and the court room was crowded. The charge against the prisoner was that he attempted to communicate to Germany information respecting British warships and military forces. The prosecution was conducted by the attorney general. Kuepferle pleaded not guilty. The prosecution contended that while he claimed to be a naturalized American citizens he was in reality a German.

Kuepferle was charged with writing a letter to an address in a neutral country in Europe giving valuable facts regarding English military dispositions. It was asserted that while the letter appeared on its face to be an innocent commercial communication it was found to be interlined in invisible ink with military information written in the German language. Kuepferle arrived in Liverpool on Feb. 14. He showed a passport signed by Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan issued ten days prior to his sailing from New York. In writing the letter, which resulted in his arrest he gave his home address at 1165 DeKalb avenue, Brooklyn. He represented himself to be a woolen merchant. From Liverpool he went to Dublin and then to London, where he was arrested February 16. His hearing was resumed yesterday n Old Bailey but was in camera "in the interests of the national safety."

Kuepferle left a message written on a slate bearing testimony to the fairness of his trial. He confessed he was a soldier, said he wished to die as a soldier and declared he could not bear to mount the scaffold as a spy.

HYPNOTISM SHOWS IN WILSON TRIAL

Defense Plans to Prove Lawyer Jacobs Was a Mesmerist.

(Special to The Sentinel).

Van Wert, O., May 20.—That Lawyer Levi X. Jacobs, slain March 26 by his housekeeper, Miss Lulu Wilson, was endowed with hypnotic powers, prided himself upon that singular gift, boasted of it and had so held a mental sway over a young woman with whom he once was on terms of great friendly intimacy to such extent tha for years she spoke of it and finally under the spell lost her reason, was one of the points the defense expected to develop this afternoon in the trial of Miss Wilson for killing Jacobs. The importance of this lies in the purpose of the defense to establish that Jacobs' slayer was of unsound mind at the time of the shooting and that the possession and exercise of such a power by Jacobs might reasonably have contributed to her state of mind.

The state closed its examination in chief late Wednesday afternoon and the defense precipitated the most strenuous legal battle of the trial when it sought to prove by George W. Bender, who was passing the Jacobs home at the time of the killing and heard the shots fired and a moment later Miss Wilson flee from the house to the home of a neighbor, that he had seen Jacobs at different times in Fort Wayne during the latter part of November and the early part of December in the Eagles' club in Fort Wayne, and drinking there. The state objected that the defense could not show by specific acts what the general character and reputation of the lawyer were. For an hour the lawyers fought and adjournment for the day found the battle unfinished. This morning the defense withdrew Bender and the legal point remained undecided.

The defense argued that its defense was both insanity and self-defense, and that it was not yet determined upon which it would go to the jury, but that it should be permitted to offer testimony as to self-defense.

The testimony today consisted in large part of the statements of women who knew Miss Wilson and saw much of her. By them it was the purpose of the defense to show that prior to the first of this year she was rational, normal, cheerful and happy, and that since then had been in failing health, morbid, melancholy, anaemic, much given to staring into space and strange actions. Dr. W. E. Lawhead, formerly of Van Wert, and now of Lima, testified that several months ago while attached to the medical service of the United States army at Washington he got a packet of green pills from Miss Wilson, who wrote a request that he analyze them for poison. The defense contends that the prisoner was for some time in constant fear that Jacobs would take her life by that means.

The court room is crowded with spectators, women predominating. It is believed the defense will not complete its examination in chief before tomorrow evening or Saturday morning.

table and turning away, replied: "If the court feels that way about it I will withdraw from this case now."

"Do as you please about that," retorted the judge, "but don't make such a remark again."

Several of the bank's lawyers surrounded Senator Bailey and after some conference he said to the court: "I feel that I owe to my clients a duty higher than any I owe to myself. Therefore I will remain and continue the argument."

"I also feel I owe a duty to your clients," replied Judge McCoy, "and that will lead me to dismiss what you have said from my mind."

Whereupon the argument proceeded.

ATTACK ON CUSHING SCORED BY CAPTAIN

German Airman's Bombardment Called "Deliberate and Dastardly."

Philadelphia, May 20.—Captain Lars Larsen Herland of the American oil tanker Cushing arrived here yesterday with his ship and submitted to his employers a report dealing with the attack made on the Cushing on April 28 by a German aeroplane, which dropped three bombs, one of which struck the rail of the vessel.

In this report the captain refers to the bomb-throwing as a "dastardly act, a deliberate attempt to sink an unarmed vessel and murder the members of the crew." A copy of this report will be forwarded to the state department at Washington.

The German airman swept in narrow circles over the tanker, trying to get directly over the funnel, with the idea, apparently, of dropping a bomb down it and wrecking her engine room.

The crew, at first swarming on deck, quickly beat a retreat to the forecastle, and no one was hurt by the explosion of the bomb which did strike the Cushing.

The attack occurred while the Cushing was about twenty-five miles from Antwerp and eight miles from the North Hinder lightship. It was near 7 o'clock in the evening, but there was ample light to see every detail of the attack, and also for the pilot of the biplane to see the words, "Cushing, New York, United States of America," painted on each side of the vessel in letters eight feet high, and to note the Stars and Stripes at the masthead and the taffrail.

On her return journey from Antwerp to this port the Cushing grazed a floating mine in the North sea, but so gently that no explosion followed.

The Cushing was bound for Rotterdam with 9,000 tons of crude oil, consigned to the government of Holland, at the time of the attack.

The bride held a bouquet of bride roses and she presented a lovely appearance. Only immediate relatives were present at the wedding and at the wedding dinner at 6 o'clock this evening covers will be laid for twelve only, owing to illness in the family of the groom. The bride's table has been decorated with white roses and smilax and the wedding cake is a marvel of skill with its elaborate nuptial adornments in the frosting. When the bridal couple leave on their wedding trip to Pittsburg, Buffalo, Niagara, New York and Toronto, the bride will wear a Tipperary suit of dark blue serge and blouse of lace combined with blue, and a red hat trimmed with black velvet and black plumes. The bride and groom are both well known and have many warm friends. The bride is very domestic in her tastes and exceptionally well adapted to take care of a home. Mr. Berdelman is an employe of the Pennsylvania company and fitted himself for the post of an engineer by means of thorough training. The bride is a sister to Harry Triskett, widely known cashier of the New Palace. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kretzinger and sons, of Kalamazoo, are out of town guests present.

IS GIVING FLOWER DANCES.

San Diego Tribune Gives Sketch of Miss Hulda Hanker's Work.

In referring to the flower carnival to be given in San Diego, Cal., in connection with the exposition there, the Evening Tribune says:

"Exquisitely beautiful will be the rose dance arranged by Miss Hulda Hanker and Miss Cornelia Strobhar by the pupils of their dancing class, numbering forty little girls, and 108 little girls between the ages of seven and fifteen, from the public schools, who will form the chorus and who have been given free instruction by Miss Hanker and Miss Strobhar for the floral association fete Saturday at the exposition.

"The dance is much like some given here by Pavlowa and is considered one of the most beautiful of the dances arranged by Schalis, of New York, from whom both Miss Hanker and Miss Strobhar received their instruction.

"The children in Grecian, Russian and Hungarian costumes will dance with wreaths and garlands of roses and the finale will be a battle of roses. Arranged in a semi-circle below the organ platform will be the chorus of 108 girls with their garlands and on the stage will be the forty solo dancers. Given at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the warm California sun bathing the plaza and the classic structure housing the great organ as a background, this will undoubtedly be one of the most artistic of the many out-of-door performances given in the unusual settings which the exposition grounds afford.

"Miss Hanker, who returned from Europe last fall when the war was declared, having intended studying in Paris through the winter, remarked at the wonderful musical sense of the children who heretofore had no instruction in dancing and praising the instruction given in the public schools which gave the little folks such a keen sense of time and rhythm. They have entered into the spirit of the entertainment and are enthusiastic over their part in the celebration."

ONE MAN YOU CANNOT MAKE LAUGH.

"Waxen Figure" in Barker-Rose Window Is Arthur Ross of New York.

PERFECT AUTOMATON.

He Doesn't Perspire at All Simply Because He Trains Against It.

The crowds standing in front of the Barker-Rose Clothing company store on Calhoun street in the afternoons are trying to decipher whether the mechanically moving figure in the window is made of wax or of flesh and blood. For forty minutes Wednesday afternoon the figure stood in the window making its automatic movements, always describing the same jerky doll-like twists and turns, without so much as moving a solitary muscle of the eye, while no facial expression or motion of the lips, throat or chest gave evidence of the figure being otherwise than artificial.

How does he do it? Is he a real man or an image? How can he prevent the nerves and muscles of the eyes and lips from moving involuntarily? How does he breathe without disclosing some movement of the body? If he is a real man, why does he not perspire in so hot a place? These are some of the most commonly heard queries concerning this man who deceives hundreds of people every time he poses.

This extremely clever artist, engaged for a short time to advertise Kuppenheimer clothing, sold at the Barker-Rose company's store, is Arthur Ross of New York city, who has been giving this kind of automaton performances for the last nine years in various parts of the country, having visited all the larger cities of the United States as a "wax figure." The pretty young woman who accompanies him, acting as operator of the figure, manipulating the alleged electric wires supposed to furnish the power for the various movements, is Miss Florence Mae, and the team is a great winner in doing the cleverest advertising stunt ever put into a window.

It is not that he does this so well, but that he does it at all, that keeps one wondering. To be able to do this difficult and seemingly impossible work this figure-man must take the very best care of his physical health. He uses no stimulants, drinks no coffee, tea or other drink than water and milk, eats only the most wholesome and easily digested foods. In this manner and by taking abundant recreation with plenty of sleep, he keeps his nerves in the pink of condition all the time, else he could not control his nerves and muscles as he does.

The Brudi Transfer company have removed from 718 Calhoun street to 322 E. Columbia street. Their new quarters are much larger than at the old location and they are now prepared for the storage of automobiles, etc.

CUBS DROP RAGGED ONE TO THE VETS

Tired from Long Ride and Affected by Cold, Were in Bad Shape.

It wouldn't have been so bad if it hadn't been ladies' day, but the idea of subjecting helpless women and children to the horrors of it passes the wildest imagination. As it was there were no fatalities, and after two hours and five minutes of agony the Dayton Vets tucked yesterday's game under their arms and left the Cubs on the field with nothing but the cold and their disgrace for company.

Dayton has nothing to crow over on that game, for although the Vets did cop it 9 and 3, the Fort Wayne gang never showed to poorer advantage, and never played a looser game. It was the cold, undoubtedly, that got the local boys on the bad track, and once started, the brakes never had a show.

Ainsworth went in for the locals, but the defeat can hardly be laid at his door, for time and again where he should have been saved by fielding, the Cubs simply couldn't get there. Although only six errors are chalked against the locals, there were a score of other places where snappy fielding would have saved them.

In the first square Sykes went out and Hobbs hit in the general direction of Hartsell, who fell over himself and allowed the runner to get to first. Horan slapped another one toward Hartsell, who bobbled it a moment, with Brant acting as a stage setting, and two men were safe. Spencer then pushed a slow one toward third, and Bell wasn't there to get it, Hobbs crossing the plate with all hands on deck and looking wild-eyed and helpless.

Fort Wayne pushed ahead in the second half. Smith and Bratchi got to third and second with a single apiece and a sacrifice by Brant. Holderman singled, scoring one, and Hartle followed with a sacrifice fly that meant another counter.

The second was scoreless, and in the third and fourth the Vets got another pair. Hartsell contributed to the amusement by heaving wildly toward first in the third. Four more piled up for Dayton in the fifth, and the pink-haired Mr. Ainsworth got disgusted and simply couldn't get himself down to his best work.

In the fifth Fort Wayne got her last run. Smith and Bratchi walked and Brant sent Smith home with a husky drive.

One more in the sixth and a final in the ninth finished Dayton's end of the scoring and the Cubs muffed several nice little chances to get a man across.

It was the cold weather that affected our hopefuls yesterday, for even the best of them were helpless. Hartsell, who has been one of the strong men of the league so far this season, and Brant, whose ability as a shortstop is doubted by none, fell down miserably. Even Beyers, hitting for Ainsworth in the ninth, allowed three strikes to flit past him. The boys did not seem able to unbend themselves, and there was little doubt that every last one of them suffered from the weather. They had a hard night on the road and were tired and stiff when they reached home, and to go into the kind of weather that was dished out to them simply spilled the beans.

Today, after a good night's rest and the application of liniment, they will be in better shape and are going into the game to make a win. Score:

A NEW PLAYER WHO IS MAKING GOOD— LAVAN OF THE BROWNS LOOKS GREAT.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

Johnny Lavan, of the St. Louis Browns, is one of the best of the younger crop of ball players. His work last year was one of the sensations of the American league race and he is showing improvement this spring, especially in team hitting. With a better first baseman to throw at he can use his speed in handling a ball more effectively and his throwing is better.

THE SPEED MANIACS TO FORM A UNION

Indianapolis, May 20.—An organization of racing drivers, comparable to the "Players' Fraternity" in baseball, is being promoted by several racing stars now in Indianapolis for the next speedway race. Barney Oldfield, Bob Burman and Earl Cooper are said to be leaders in the movement, this trio representing the cream of the American racing fraternity, and, therefore, acting with some authority.

The object of the new association is denoted by its title, "Auto Driver's Protective Association," with its chief duties the protection of drivers' lives and property, and the advancement of their general financial interest.

The latter object is one which, it is thought, will give other factions in the racing game, notably the promoters, much concern. It is thus rumored that one of the first acts of the new organization will be to ask the Indianapolis motor speedway to split with drivers all gate admissions collected during practice for the next 500 mile race. The drivers furnish the attraction, it is argued, and, therefore, should profit in proportion.

Another point to be raised, it is said, is the matter of entrance money. Promoters have no right to ask entrance fees of the men who furnish their show, it is stated, but should, on the other hand, make definite guarantees to drivers, said guarantee to be uniform to everybody, so that everyone may have an even chance.

A number of other minor points are under discussion, such as the problem of properly fencing dirt tracks, standardization of racing contracts, etc. These are to be definitely settled in the near future in a set of by-laws.

What the upshot of the matter will be is difficult to determine. To date only the drivers have expressed their opinion, the American Automobile association and various track owners withholding their views until they are more thoroughly informed of the proposition.

CHAMP SPRINTER SAYS HE NEVER TRAINS

San Francisco, May 20.—Howard Drew, world's champion 100 yard runner, doesn't train, incredible as that may sound. His races keep him in trim.

His contests are frequent enough, Drew recently explained, to preserve a top-notch physical condition.

"I don't need to train," he said. "Once or twice since coming to California I have had to work out to keep the fat down. That is because racing meets out here are so much less frequent than in the east."

HOWARD DREW.

Drew, a 5 foot 8 bundle of compact muscle, declared that the California climate was responsible for less speed in western runners than in the sprinters and long distance men of the east.

"California climate, especially in the south, makes one feel lazy," he said. "To become a long distance runner you must peg away constantly, circling the track almost without end. That's the way you develop form and wind, and speed comes with these. But in southern California, and here too, I imagine the fellows have to over-exert to do this. The weather is too warm. They get the lazy habit."

Drew paid a tribute to western pole vaulters and hurdlers.

"The west has the best hurdlers," said he. "That is because they originated and practiced the style of lifting the front foot over. The east is now adopting that method successfully.

"None of the eastern colleges have as many consistent twelve-foot performers with the vaulting pole as California university and Stanford, although the east still holds the record."

"THE VALLEY OF THE MISSING."

Grace Miller White's Throbbing Drama Seen at the Jefferson.

Grace Miller White, the brilliant young author of "The Valley of the Missing," as picturized for the Fox Film corporation, stands at the head and front of her craft. Hundreds of thousands of Miss White's books have gone into the eager hands of readers all over the world, and her works are unusually popular even at this moment. Miss White is also the author of "Tess of the Storm Country," which is perhaps her best known work. An interesting incident is told regarding the occasion when Miss White witnessed the photo-played version of her novel, which has the beautiful young metropolitan star, Jane Miller, in the leading role. So moved was the authoress at the big scene in the play that she burst into tears, unashamed.

"It is wonderful—magnificent," she exclaimed. "Although I created the people who move in this picture, I feel quite awe-stricken as I watch them move across the screen. To me it was like a beautiful dream." The Paramount Travel pictures, showing some interesting and enlightening views of South America are projected with the feature of the day.

AT THE COLONIAL

EXPRESS TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RIVER.

Vitagraph Spends $50,000 to Make One Scene in "The Juggernaut," Colonial.

With a roar and a screech like the death wail of some mammoth prehistoric animal, an entire express train, consisting of a train of coaches and a giant locomotive, dashed out upon the wavering, spindle-legged bridge that spans with ribbons of steel and cross-layers of rotting timber the deep, swift rolling waters of the Delaware, river. As the train reaches the center of the bridge, the shaking structure shudders as if stricken with ague. its joists and beams strain to the terrible weight above—and then it weakens. What happens in those following chaotic seconds is well-nigh beyond the comprehension of man. And when it is all over. When the muddied waters were once more rolling serenely by, purling in and out among the shredded remnants of the horribly delapidated bridge, there remained a scene that will stick in the memory for years to come. It is that of a young man, leaning—white faced—over a beautiful girl, lying limp and pallid near the lapping waters of the river. Her father was the president of the road. He had said—"Leave that bridge alone, we can't afford the money to fix it."

In this tremendous drama, "The Juggernaut." Earle Williams is the young man; Anita Stewart is his beautiful young sweetheart. They are only two of the Vitagraph celebrities in this remarkable photo-drama. If you don't see it at the Colonial today, tomorrow or Saturday, you've missed the biggest "movie" sensation in years.'

THE MAY SALE OF WHITE

It isn't like other sales—any more than this store is like other stores, although it is a sale of summer lingerie, table linens, household linens, bed spreads, sheets and pillow cases and towels, longcloths and all those other summer and all-the-year-around white goods.

First, it is a sale that has quality for its theme, not some make-believe quality, but quality that will tell in the wear, that is seen in every seam of every garment, quality that is recognized when you take up any piece of damask in your hand and feel the weight and body of it.

It is a sale that we've been months planning—to make it the best we've ever held—and even if it would gratify us very little if we didn't know that in every case the qualities are the same or better, the assortments wider, the prices lower or, in spite of conditions, as low as any we have ever quoted.

We Can Offer the Greatest White Stocks We've Ever Assembled for any May Sale of White We've Ever Held

Why Do I Turn White When Scared?

Simply because, when you are scared or frightened, the blood almost leaves your face entirely. Under normal conditions, the red blood which is flowing through the arteries of your face gives the face a reddish tinge, and your face becomes white when you are frightened, because then the blood leaves the face. It is quite singular, but when you are really frightened, whatever the cause may be, the human system receives such a shock that the heart just about stops beating altogether. When your heart stops beating of course the flow of the blood from the heart stops and then there is no supply of fresh red blood coming through the arteries under the skin of your face. Therefore you look white—the color your face would be if no blood ever flowed through your arteries and veins. Some people have faces so white they look as though they were scared all the time. This is not because they have no blood flowing through the veins and arteries in their faces, but because their supply of blood is less than other people's and sometimes because the walls of their arteries and veins are so much thicker than the average that the color of the blood does not show through. There are also many people who have so much blood in their systems all the time, and the walls of whose arteries are so thin, that they look at all times as though they might be blushing.

AMERICAN TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

American Express Company Sees Indication of Big Business.

George C. Taylor, president of the American Express company, announces the extension of the company's activities to Russia and the appointment of Edward F. Wales-Smith commercial agent at Petrograd. Mr. Wales-Smith was traffic agent of the American Express company at Paris, France, for several years. The closing lines of a letter issued by President Taylor, defining the position of the American Express, reads as follows:

"To further the mutual enterprises already existing and to reinforce the activities of our representatives at Petrograd we are sending A. C. Spencer, of our export freight department, New York City, to Russia on May 22nd, with instructions to visit Petrograd, Libau, Riga, Moscow, Archangel, and other Russian cities for the purpose of placing Russian importers in touch with American suppliers and to put in operation arrangements that will simplify the methods now employed in shipping between the respective countries."

MANY ORDERS FOR CARS.

Pennsy Leads With Orders for 14,500 Freighters.

(Daily Iron Trade.)

The Pennsylvania lines east and west have closed for 14,500 freight cars and seventy-five locomotives, with proposals for 1,000 automobile cars for the lines west still open. The distribution among builders has not yet formally been announced, but six builders, including the American Car and Foundry company, the Cambria Steel company, the Pressed Steel Car company, the Standard Steel Car company, the Ralston Steel Car company and the Haskell & Barker Car company, received orders in varying numbers.

Of the locomotive orders, the Lima Locomotive corporation, Lima, Ohio, took twenty-five and the American Locomotive company took a considerable number. The passenger coaches have not yet been placed.

The steel requirements of the cars actually placed with builders easily reach 200,000 tons. This is the largest car order put out in more than a year. The Pennsylvania railroad will close also in a day ortwo on 138,000 tons of steel rails. On this business the Algoma Steel company, of Canada, is understood to have submitted a low price.

COULDN'T FIND A CORPSE.

But the Section Foreman Reported Finding Pile of Coal.

When a Pennsylvania freight train arrived at Hamlet last night, the engineer reported that he saw the body of a man lying between the tracks a short distance west of the station. The section foreman was routed out of bed and instructed to go after and bring the corpse in. He reported, after walking over the tracks three or four miles that no dead body could be found. He found, however, a pile of coal between the two main tracks which he said could be easily mistaken by the man in the cab for a human body. The incident caused considerable amusement among the force at the trainmaster's office and the claims department. "It illustrates the watchfulness of the engineer, however," said one of the attaches of the office.

RETURNS TO OLD POSITION.

George Dinne is again foreman of the casting cleaning department at the Bass foundry, after an absence of a year. Last May, Dinne, who had been at the Bass works eight years without visiting his wife and other relatives in Macedonia, took a leave of absence and went to his native country to see the folks and possibly prevail upon Mrs. Dinne to come to America. The European war and some other matters interfered with his plans and Mrs. Dinne will not come here until some time later. She expects to join her husband here, however, and to make this her home in the future.

VALPO STUDENTS GOING HOME.

All Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate passenger trains, except the flyers, are carrying students from the Valparaiso university today, this being the closing day of the term. There were 500 pupils enrolled and most of them left Valparaiso today or will leave tonight. Neither road had special trains, but all trains engaged in the business carried extra cars. District Passenger Agent F. P. Parmin, of the Nickel Plate, has been at Valparaiso for several days.

CAR ROBBERS INDICTED.

Capt. H. C. Stoll, of the Pennsylvania police department, has been advised that the grand jury at Lima, Ohio, returned indictments of burglary, grand and petit larceny against William T. Cunningham and George M. Colton. January 26 these men broke into a Pennsylvania car at Lima and stole a number of cigars, selling them later to eleven dealers. All the cigars were recovered and the thieves were arrested February 10 through the efforts of the Pennsylvania police and the police at Lima.

BRAKEMAN KARNS AT HOSPITAL.

James E. Karns, the Pennsylvania brakeman, who had a leg broken by falling as he attempted to get on the caboose at Van Wert, as mentioned by The Sentinel last night, was brought to the city at 4 o'clock last night and taken to St. Joseph hospital. R. J. Fisher left last night for Columbus on business for the Bass Foundry and Machine company. He will also visit Cincinnati and Indianapolis before he returns home.

Passenger Conductor B. F. Stonecifer of the Lake Erie and Western, is sick and unable to take charge of his train. His place is being filled by Conductor Bardeau, of Muncie, Ind.

The Happy Neighborhood

LAFAYETTE PLACE

Club House

An agreeable, fascinating social life, centering around the Community Club House will be a most attractive feature of Lafayette Place.

Afternoon functions for the wives and daughters, good-fellowship in the evening for the men; billiards, cards, dancing and other pastimes—all these and more will make Lafayette Place a most delightful neighborhood in which to live.

And then there will be

for the children where they may romp to their hearts' content, safe from all dangers, while mothers are free from worry.

The Lafayette Place company has donated to the buyers of these lots a Community Club House which will cost $5,000 or more, and will equip at its own expense the children's playgrounds in addition to giving the ground for both.

People You Like

will live in this new neighborhood on South Calhoun street. They will be no richer and no poorer than you. Our right to reject any sale, combined with building restrictions, will assure buyers of Lafayette Place an occupied neighborhood of the highest plane.

in Lafayette Place or in any of the nearby additions; there never will be any saloons, for the deeds to the lots prevent them. There is not and never will be a factory belching forth smoke and grime near Lafayette Place. Groceries, markets and such stores will be handy—they are today—but they will not encroach on the residence streets that comprise Lafayette Place.

Act Today

Your disappointment will be great if you do not take steps to secure a lot in this addition; for today it is possible, very easy in fact, with the small monthly payments; but five years from now will see such an increase in values that a home site in Lafayette Place may be out of the question for you.

NEUTRALITY GIVEN BREACH BY POLICE

Members of German Band Pinched on Charge of Drunkenness.

What appears to be a bold and wanton breach of neutrality was committed Wednesday evening by the police when John Durdewald and John Martin, two jolly members of a "little German band" that has been serenading Fort Wayne people, were arrested and immured for the night in the noisome dungeon at headquarters. They were charged with being drunk. The proprietor of an East Main street barber shop complained that the band had created a disturbance at his place and annoyed him and his patrons, though it developed that the tonsorial artist probably had "no music in himself and is not moved by concord of sweet sounds," for he threw water on the musicians, who then fell into the spirit of the fun by poking the bells of their horns into the doorway and shot their harmonies directly into the ears of the occupants of the place. Fred Rosselot, proprietor of a saloon on Barr street, also complained that one of the bandsmen had taken a pool ball from his place, but there was no evidence to fasten that high crime and misdemeanor on the prisoners. Durdewald and Martin denied that they were drunk, but admitted that they had spent a couple of hours at a brewery late in the afternoon. They proved to be good-natured and intelligent young Germans and had traveled all over the United States. Judge Kerr continued the cases until Friday morning and the musicians furnished cash bond for their appearance. They had the entire sympathy of all the attaches and crowd at the city court.

Nasty Mess is Uncovered.

A nasty mess was uncovered in the city court by the trial of Fred Hensinger, a young paroled convict from Jeffersonville, and Mrs. Hilda Walker, who were arrested at the Walker home, 1732 Broadway, Wednesday night, and charged with adultery. The pair were occupying the same bed when the officers got them, but both denied on the witness stand that they had been guilty of wrong-doing. Mrs. Walker has four young children, the oldest of which is aged 11 years, and these have been taken by Police Matron Fannie M. Winch and Humane Officer William Clutter to the detention home of the Fort Wayne Relief union. Mrs. Walker admitted on the stand that she was deeply in love with Hensinger, a soft confession in which her paramour did not join, and a letter written by her to him further proved it. The police say that Mrs. Walker's husband has left her because of her conduct and that Hensinger has been living with her. The cases were continued until Saturday morning and the bond of each was fixed at $300.

Bicycle Thief Convicted.

Tom Trumpet, an Italian, was found guilty, after a prolonged hearing, on a charge of petit larceny and was fined $10 and costs and given a suspended sentence of ten days. He paid the fine. He stole a bicycle last March on Calhoun street from John Emmett, a bright and interesting youth, who resides at 420 East Wayne street, painted it over, removed the maker's label and otherwise sought to disguise the machine. Trumpet told an elaborate, but palpably false story of having purchased the wheel in Pittsburg. The case against him was conclusive.

Other City Court Cases.

Jim Kelly, who had a souse and made trouble at the Pennsylvania pay car Wednesday evening, was fined $1 and costs.

John Daly, William Deuel, James Callon and Joe Palmer, charged with loitering, were closely questioned because they had just come from Defiance, O., where a man was thrown from a Baltimore and Ohio freight train by tramps and received fatal injuries. The men told stright stories and were released to leave the city at once.

John "Neversweat" Lee was in and loudly denied he was drunk, but was still so well lit up that his case was continued until Friday.

Homer Burris, white, and George Wilson and Robert Drake, negroes, arrested for loitering were turned loose.

Joe Smith, whose prowling about a Buchanan street home early Wednesday morning caused a burglar alarm to be sent to police headquarters, still insisted he was too drunk to know what he was doing. He was allowed to go.

John May, arrested several weeks ago on a loitering charge, was disposed of by a dismissal. An injury to one of his legs has developed gangrene and it is said that his leg must be amputated. He is now in a hospital.

The loitering charges against Fred Unger, Frank Fern, Mart Davis, Ray Davis, Frank Cook, James Morrison and James Smith were dismissed by the prosecutor after their true names were ascertained. Unger is the bartender and the others were loungers found in the Fleckenstein saloon on West Main street, when the place was raided by the police on Sunday, May 9. They are wanted for witnesses in the circuit court, to which tribunal Fleckenstein appealed his case from the city court.

BURGLARS TAKEN AWAY.

Chief of Police Lenz, on Wednesday evening, turned over to Officers J. L. Thompson and L. H. Greiner, of Leipsic, Ohio, the three men who were arrested here Tuesday by Detective Sergeant Pappert and who are wanted in the Ohio town for burglary. They were taken there Thursday night. The authorities of Troy, Ohio, were also prepared to claim the men, who confessed to burglary in that city, but Leipsic had the first call.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, Ohio, May 20.—Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Waltenburger, among our north of the river folks, were visitors at Fort Wayne Wednesday, where they spent the day among the stores there, shopping.

W. F. Fleck was among the passengers that invaded the city limits of Fort Wayne, Wednesday, where he spent the day as the guest of Fred Lahmyer and family.

Miss Mabel Phillips, among our east of town folks, while handling the steering wheel of the big family auto Sunday afternoon, had the bad luck to be dumped down an embankment. There were four other persons in the machin at the time. All were quite badly shaken up and more or less bruised but Miss Phillips was the only one to be injured, she receiving a broken shoulder.

Clide Sunday and Miss Addie Lindemuth, who were married at Anderson, Ind., Wednesday last, Rev. E. E. Byrum, of the Church of God officiating, returned to this place Friday. In the evening their young friends took notice of the event by giving them a real nice old fashioned belling. They are now nicely located in the Pointer residence on West River street.

Liquor and Public Utilities in Indiana Politics

Taking for his subject, "Liquor and Public Utilities in Indiana Politics," Theodore F. Thiem spoke as follows at the citizens' meeting, Wednesday evening at the assembly room of the court house:

Every attempt to bring about reforms in governmental conditions in city, county or state, bumps up hard against two powerful obstacles—public utilities and liquor. To ignore these two forces would be as useless as the attempt of a prisoner to escape from jail without considering steel bars and guards. In fact our subjected citizenship, deprived completely of self-government, can well be described as surrounded and held in bounds by a wall built up of an old state constitution and reinforced by innumerable stifling laws. On this wall are massed, like guards of a penitentiary, the agents of public utilities and liquor keeping vigil every minute of the day and night, prepared at all times to quickly quell any rising of the citizenship within.

Invisible Government.

The hardest jolt I ever received in my many years of public activities was given me in the session of the 1913 legislature, during my efforts on behalf of the business system of city government bill. It was then that I saw, for the first time, the "invisible" forces of government at work; and after our bill received the final contemptuous kick that landed it in the legislative scrap pile, I decided to find out more about these "political villains" who had been performing all these years, and whose features had been so successfully screened that few people knew them. Digging my way to the rear of the political stage and into the secret dressing rooms I found a strange mixture of performers. Mingling together, in most intimate and friendly relations, there were gentlemen wearing silk hats and dress coats, others wearing cocked hats and plate glass fronts, some wearing white aprons over bay-window waistcoats, and still others wearing ragged coats with shining elbows. These men were recognized as bankers and business men, brewers, saloonkeepers, gamblers and down-and-outs of various descriptions. They represented the best citizens with the worst citizens. Many of these were friends and acquaintances, men whom I had never thought of as being engaged in the disgraceful and disreputable business of bribing, beating, cheating and robbing the people. I was amazed and stunned; it was a great shock to me, as it had been to others before me. But it was a shock that awakened me, and I have been trying to keep awake ever since.

I know now that for years these two powerful interests—public franchise corporations and liquor—have been working together silently, discreetly, graspingly, heartlessly; one furnishing the brains and the money, the other the workers and the votes. While one gathered franchise privileges and plunder, the other got public offices and secured exemption from regulation for the brewer, the saloon and their discreditable allies. So it happens even now, in this year of our Lard 1915, that our whole system of government in city, county and state, is constructed to serve, first, last and all the time, public utilities and the saloon. And what these two interests require more than all else, in order that they may flourish unrestrained, is bad government, and bad government is expensive to the people, not only in dollars but in a hundred other ways.

The question arises: Why should public utilities and liquor form a partnership? Why should they control our government? Why should they be corrupt and why should they collectively inflict untold hardship on the people and cast a blight on citizenship and progress, when, individually, these men want to be respected citizens and good neighbors?

Apathy and Ignorance.

Before digging up a little history, let me say a few words on the "apathy of the people." It is true; the people are politically apathetic, indifferent and careless, but why? There may be other reasons, but there are none more potent than ignorance of the subject. It is human nature for people to be indifferent or careless about things of which they are ignorant or of which they have false ideas, and this is the reason that people are apathetic in the performance of their political and civic duties; but who is to blame?

People are educated in schools, colleges and universities, so the blame must rest there. I cannot, in this short address, go into the details of this phase of the subject, but will content myself with making the broad statement that our whole educational system is suffering from the coercive and dictatorial influence of public utilities and liquor. Our educators have been made to feel the advisability of confining their teachings to the old, well grooved, academic order of things. Occasional attempts on the part of progressive educators to include in their work the useful studies of real live civics and other timely subjects necessary to make and build up citizenship, have been curbed by the numerous devices known to professional politicians. What is being done today in the state of Indiana—in private schools, public schools, colleges or universities—to make conscious citizens in a broad sense of the word? I say practically nothing. Does this not explain why the people are apathetic? To cultivate apathy among the people, I claim, is one of the many methods used by public utilities to maintain bad government.

A New Constitution and Home Rule for Cities.

Now for a little history. In 1816 the state of Indiana had its first constitutional convention and framed a constitution. In 1851 we had a second constitutional convention, at which time our present constitution was framed. A constitution is the fundamental or organic law of the state. We hear of our constitution principally in court decisions declaring a law unconstitutional.

In 1851 we had no cities; the largest town had a population of about 8,000. These towns had no street cars, no gas, water, electric lights, no police or fire departments, no street paving and few schools and colleges. There was nothing of value operated in, or owned by our towns worth stealing or giving away. So the constitutional convention continued the old system of making the legislature the guardian of the town. The town was treated like a child, the legislature like a father; but the town grew into a city—the child into a man, and the legislature degenerated into an old and feeble weakling, and became the tool of wicked and designing men. The cities, like big boys, were full of life and ambition, and were rapidly gaining in wealth. It was then that these evil forces got control of the feeble old weakling, the legislature, and used its authority and power to exploit the dependent cities. Think of it! These great powerful cities, these fine, grown-up men, must go to the legislature, which is now an old, feeble, corrupt, boss-owned wreck, and beg for every dollar, for every privilege, for every reform and for every change. And do they get it? It all depends upon the mood or physical condition of the old man, if sober or drunk, and upon the attitude of his evil advisers, the public utilities and liquor bosses.

It must be clear to all why a new constitution with home rule for cities is fought desperately by public utilities and their agents, the saloon and the boss, by the partisan newspaper and by the public officials from the state governor and city mayor, down to the street sweeper.

Public Utilities.

The modern city is a business organization; that is to say, it is organized to conduct city business. There are many functions to perform; some are profitable to the city and some are unprofitable. Street car, gas, electric light and water services, which go under the name of public utilities, are profitable enterprises. Fire and police departments, street paving, public schools, building of streets and sewers, etc.—these are unprofitable enterprises. There is no scrap or agitation about who is to own the unprofitable ones; no arguments on public ownership or private ownership of these, like there is about the profitable ones; no arguments that a city cannot run its fire, police, school or sewer departmnets. But we are constantly reminded by the paid agents of the profitable enterprises that the city cannot run street cars, or furnish gas, light and water for a city. What is the difference? Well, about the only difference is the one that is never mentioned. The street cars, etc., are profitable—they are immense money makers. The public schools, fire departments, etc., are unprofitable—are immense money losers. Now would not common sense teach anybody possessed with a few grains of good business judgment, that if certain departments in a business of necessity lose money, there must be other departments which make enough money to at least offset the losses. If any individual or corporation should be so foolish as to give away the profitable departments and keep the unprofitable ones, a commission of lunacy would immediately follow. Such a commission is surely needed now for our cities.

And by the way, why should anyone admit that even our cities, bad as they are, cannot run their public utilities. It would not take much to beat the average street car system, or the gas, electric light and water systems, if price, quality and service are considered, such as we find in the average city.

These profitable enterprises of our cities are worth millions upon millions of dollars—not thousands, but millions; that is the reason public utilities are in politics.

Saloon in Politics.

Liquor's case is somewhat different. It is safe to assume that breweries and saloons under normal conditions would have no objection to home rule and correct city government. Home rule and the saloon flourish together throughout the world, excepting in this country. But liquor in this country has become affiliated with and supported vice, gambling and corruption in many forms, and has refused to be regulated. Competition among brewers has given us more saloons than the public could support and has installed many undesirable saloonkeepers. To protect themselves from regulation and control they entered into politics. When public utilities took over our political parties, they also annexed the saloon, and while the saloon furnished the votes for the public utilities, they in turn furnished campaign money and protection to the saloon, at the same time dividing with the brewers and the bosses the control of public office.

Public Utilities to Take Over the Courts.

Liquor is now in disrepute and the people are determined that the saloon must go. No one knows this better than public utilities, and they are preparing to part company and install a new ally. Their plan of action was glaringly disclosed in the twenty-two amendments that were offered the people as a substitute for a new constitution. It must be quite clear to anyone who can read that public utilities have decided to use the courts. Instead of votes, they will depend on court decisions. The "missing link" was furnished when they got the public utility law passed, which is of greatest value if properly interpreted by the courts. The corporation lawyers prepared these twenty-two amendments, and for a raw deal and a vicious program that defies description, those amendments are certainly unsurpassed.

The Stotsenburg Amendment Fiasco.

Section 10 of these amendments proposed to increase the supreme court of the state from five to twelve members, and to give the general assembly the power to divide these into classes of three judges, and to authorize a majority of each class to decide cases. This would have given two judges, out of a court of twelve, the power to declare whether a law is constitutional or unconstitutional, and in fact would have enabled two men, as judges, to be the "law of the land."

Amendment 11 provided that the general assembly could create more than one circuit court in the same county. There are ninety-two counties in the state, and this would have given our legislators the power, not only to create one court, but as many more as they like, in every county of the state.

Amendment 13 provided that no law for the recall of the judiciary shall ever be passed.

These twenty-two amendments not only provided new shackles for the people, but also most effectively drove solid spikes into all other reform measures that the people had been clamoring for, "Home Rule for Cities," taxation and suffrage reforms, initiative and referendum, short ballot, workable methods for amending the constitution or getting a new constitution—all of these measures, with others, were killed outright.

These twenty-two amendments, standing out boldly as the climax of juggling on the part of the most brazen lot of political conspirators and public humbugs that was ever known, were actually passed almost unanimously by the 1913 legislature. This 1913 legislature was a typical illustration of what happened "when the political boss was in flower."

Under our constitution these twenty-two amendments came up again for consideration in the 1915 legislature, and unquestionably would have been passed, but for the exposure of the conspiracy by the Citizens' league. However, through its efforts in bringing these amendments to the attention of the people and by the aid of a few clean, honest and intelligent members of the legislature, these amendments did not pass.

The Public Utility Law Grab.

In the 1913 legislature the public utility lawyers and political bosses put through a state public utility law—a shining example of deception and imposition unheard of before, a law wholly in the interests of public utilities and against the cities, against the people and against local self-government. This law will cost the people of Fort Wayne millions of dollars, with years of fighting, suffering and cussing.

What is, however, of greatest importance is the fact that these two measures, as well as every other vicious law put through this legislature, received its main support, and in fact was apparently promoted by our local political boss, and voted upon in every instance by our local representatives. Until the people understand the fact that the political boss is their worst enemy, a traitor to the people whose whole activity consists in fooling the people in order to sell them out to special interests—until such a time no substantial progress will be made.

Liquor Chooses Our Legislators.

The brewers and saloons have for years selected the members of the legislature, not only in Fort Wayne, but in all the cities of the state. Men are selected who can be relied upon by liquor, and who also can be relied upon to obey the party and the boss; and rarely have the brewers selected the wrong man. In our local primary here in Allen county in 1914, the candidates for the legislature were picked by our controlling political powers according to their known position on liquor legislation. When there was any doubt as to a candidate's position, he was requested to sign a written pledge. Those who did not do this to the satisfaction of the liquor interests of Fort Wayne were tabooed.

Why the Constitutional Convention Bill Was Lost Last November.

We voted last November on a constitutional convention bill. A new constitution is solely in the interest of the people—a plan to give the people an opportunity to introduce laws for their own protection, and yet the measure did not carry, and why?

1st—The bill from its inception was a fraud.

2nd—The people were uninformed and apathetic.

3rd—Our political educational system—the press—was muzzled.

4th—Liquor fought the bill desperately.

5th—Eminently respectable lawyers were induced to send out misleading and false statements over their signatures, advising against the convention.

The fact that seven supreme court judges and nearly one hundred circuit court judges were to be selected by the political machine if the twenty-two amendments passed, may account for much of the activity displayed by certain lawyers in this constitutional convention fight. No man was ever recognized for judgeship or any other high office by the political machine unless he first had the confidence of the bosses and had shown his qualifications; and the kind of qualifications necessary for a political job of this kind was the sort of literature that was distributed by these lawyers during the campaign.

The activity of the saloon was pronounced. Liquor papers furnished daily material against the constitution. The brewers and saloons were active in many directions. Our committee has in its possession fifteen printed circulars, opposing the constitutional convention, and all of these were distributed in one saloon. You will observe that while our schools, colleges and universities are not permitted to teach live civics, that part of our educational system has been assigned to the saloons. They are the laboratory of political science.

For inspiration and information in our fight against public utilities in politics, we need only to read the history of the cities of the world. The debasing activity of public utilities in politics of foreign cities was recognized over there twenty-five and fifty years ago. It was stopped by giving the cities "home rule," enabling them to secure ownership of all utilities. This is the condition of the cities of every civilized country in the world, excepting Russia, Turkey and the United States. Evidently it is in these countries where big business controls the government and the people.

The Saloon Must Go.

However, public utilities could not have secured this strangle-hold on our government without the aid of liquor; and now a nation-wide fight is on against liquor. It is fought on moral, economic, hygienic and political grounds. All comparisons between the saloon in Germany, France or England and this country are of no value, because nowhere else in this whole wide world is the saloon in politics, excepting in the United States.

It is universally agreed that we must reform our inconceivably stupid and corrupt system of city government, and our cities must have "home rule"; we must get control of our government in city and state through the initiative and referendum. These and other measures can be had only through a new constitution; and the lesson of the election last fall is that we cannot expect to get a new constitution until the saloon is eliminated. Judge Anderson in pronouncing sentence on the Terre Haute corruptionists, said:

"My notion is that the saloon will have to go. I believe the time will come when the people will rise up and smash the saloon, at least as we have it now. The evidence in this case showed that the saloons were the centers of nearly all the corruption in the election at Terre Haute."

In conclusion, I desire to say for myself finally that I have no prejudice against liquor. By habit and sentiment I have always favored the legalized sale of liquor as a beverage. I have always had, and now have, friendly personal and business association with men connected with or interested in the liquor business. I am not influenced by the opposition to the use or sale of liquor on moral grounds, but after years of sincere effort toward constructive reforms in government, and particularly city government, I have become firmly convinced that the American saloon is a political evil which we can no longer tolerate. I know that it lies at the base of all our political turpitude. It cannot be regulated; it must be destroyed. Regardless of personal sentiment, I am ready to join hands with every effort in Indiana to bring about the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic.

It is feared by some that the loss of the saloon would be a serious one to the city from a business point of view. I claim that the saloon today is the most expensive institution existing in our cities. The benefits to be gained by "home rule" for our cities, through the introduction of correct business methods and the promotion of citizenship and general progress, will be more in one year than all the benefits the saloon can bring in a hundred years.

The welfare of our cities depends upon progress, upon methods of efficiency, and if we are to consider first the prosperity, the happiness and material welfare of our working people, our business men, our manufacturers—all the people, then we must make this sacrifice, and this sacrifice means the overthrow of the organized liquor traffic. I have been many years coming to this conclusion, but I hold it now as an absolute conviction.

BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES ON FACE

Kept Getting Worse. Very Sore. Inflamed and Unsightly. Itched and Burned. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Short Time Well.

Route No. 2, Box 27, Frederic, Wis.—"About a year ago, pimples and blackheads broke out on my face and kept getting worse and worse. At first my face was covered with blackheads and in a short time small red spots appeared here and there which increased very rapidly. My face became very sore and inflamed. The eruptions were very unsightly and disfigured me badly. At times they itched and burned so I had to scratch them and after that they got still worse.

"I used two different remedies but got no good results. I wrote for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and that seemed to give good results so I bought three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. They stopped the burning at once, and in a short time I was entirely well, and all disfigurement was gone." (Signed) Gunard Friberg, November 5, '14.

Beauty of skin and hair promoted and maintained by daily use of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

The suit of Anna M. Layton vs. Lyman Layton for divorce has been dismissed from the superior court and the restraining orders issued in the action have been dissolved.

Another move in the long series of troubles that have grown out of the divorce suit of Carl Herfort vs. Ethel Herfort was taken in the superior court when Judge Yaple entered an order directing Herfort to return his children forthwith to Mrs. Wilhelmina Deisch, their grandmother, to whose custody they were given when the divorce was granted.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Lucinda Snyder from Samuel Snyder.

In the case of the state ex-rel., Louisa Hahn vs. Haniel Hahn, a divorce suit that has graduated into contempt proceedings against the defendant, Hahn is ordered to present himself in court June 4 to show cause for his failure to make appearance before the sheriff of Franklin county, Indiana, as ordered.

OLD PLAT SHOWS A BIG FLOOD PLANE

Land North of Old Water Street to St. Mary's Open in 1875.

In connection with a purpose to prevent further encroachment on the natural flood plans of the St. Marys river from old Water street north to the stream Mayor Hosey has been examining an old plat showing the profile of Clinton street in 1875. This drawing indicates that in that time and before the St. Marys had plenty of room to get away in flood times before Clinton street was constructed and made a dam across the plane. The drawing also shows the high water marks of floods in March, 1868 and in March, 1869, at which times the water rose to a great height over the plane. The flood line of the spring of 1875 is very much lower. Mayor Hosey believes that one measure of relief that will be included in the flood prevention plans is a cut-off from the St. Mary's river east of Harrison street across the intervening territory to a point in the river just north of the gas works. The earth taken from this channel he thinks could be well used to raise the level of the territory included in the baseball grounds and adjoining land. The mayor's investigation of the old plat was brought about by his discovery that the Indiana Lighting company is dumping cinders and otherwise encroaching on the old flood plane in the vicinity of the gas works. The company will be notified to stop its encroachments.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ONLY MAN WILSON TAKES ORDERS FROM

He's Dr. Grayson, U. S. N., the "Health Master" to the White House.

(Editor's Note.—Keeping the "man of the hour" well!

How is it done?

Here is the answer, told for the first time, and told by the man who does it!

Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., "health

master" to Woodrow Wilson, knows the president's personality better perhaps than any man in America.

Today, in the columns of the Sentinel, he tells his story for the first time. Realizing that in this historic crisis the minds of all Americans are fixed upon their chief executive, Dr. Grayson granted Correspondent Payne the following interview in Washington.)

(By Kenneth W. Payne.)

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The whole world has "put it up to Wilson."

The nations of Europe have asked in unison, "What will President Wilson do?" and in unison a hundred million Americans have answered, "Whatever he does, we'll stand by him."

Surely a more tremendous burden of responsibility has never been heaved upon one individual. For the time, the future course of history is hanging in the balance of his hand.

How does President Wilson stand such a fearful strain?

Millions of citizens of the United States, who have come to love their president better in the present period of trial than they ever have before, are asking the question with most sincere solicitude. Have they exacted more from their president than his health would bear?

"No; President Wilson today is in better physical shape than he has been at any time since he was inaugurated."

The answer is that of the president's "health master" himself, Dr. Carey T. Grayson, U. S. N., and squirm as he will to escape the praise, Dr. Grayson himself must take credit for the fact, or shall we say, to please Dr. Grayson, that the credit must be divided between himself and President Wilson's indomitable will.

"For the first few months after his inauguration, Mr. Wilson worked far too hard!" said Dr. Grayson. "He objected strenuously to the regime upon which I insisted. But I persuaded him that it was his duty, not alone to himself, but to the nation as a whole, to take the most perfect care possible of his health.

"And today President Wilson realizes this. Often when it would be much easier for him to finish the press of work which surrounds him, he forces himself to lay aside his labors and take the exercise in the open upon which his health and hence his greatest efficiency in the service of his country depend.

"On Saturdays he invariably takes a holiday. We have a standard appointment for breakfast together, and then we start out for a long drive or a game of golf—generally it is golf. My great effort is to draw the president's mind completely from the heavy responsibilities of his office, and with the mental concentration necessary to play a fair game of golf, and the anecdotes we interchange, the effort is usually successful.

The president's famous game of golf on the Saturday the Lusitania horror broke in an outraged world illustrates his systematic control in the face of the most appalling of problems.

"The president's regime on week days," Dr. Grayson continued, "is almost as invariable. He breakfasts at 8, works until noon, and after luncheon he and I go out to the links for golf. Three solid hours nearly every day in the week are thus given to exercise in the open air. It is not easy for the president to spare this time, but its results are shown in Mr. Wilson's present state of health.

"On his return from the links the president accomplishes an hour's work before dinner, and he is at his desk again in the evening, but is invariably in bed at 10 and has nine hours' sleep."

To this regularity of the president, his careful diet, his enforced exercise and his keen sense of humor, Dr. Grayson attributes largely his physical ability to stand the great strain of his office.

For two years Dr. Grayson has been President Wilson's inseparable companion. Yet with astonishing success he has kept himself completely out of the public eye.

Dr. Grayson is the only man from whom the president of the United States takes orders and he is just thirty-six!

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, May 20.—Fear of black rust led today to an upturn in prices of wheat. Bullish crop reports from Indiana tended also to cause an advance. Opening prices, which varied from ¼c off to ⅞c up, were followed by decided gains all around and then a moderate reaction.
The close was unsettled at ⅝c to 1¼c net advance.
Corn hardened in sympathy with the action of wheat and owing to less favorable weather. After opening a shade to ⅝c higher, the market continued to rise.
The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ½c above last night.
Oats reflected the strength of other cereals.
Firmness of grain and hogs affected provisions.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, May 20.—Prices tended downward again at the outset of today's market operations, the only exceptions being certain of the war specialties, which recorded gains of one to three points. Standard shares, including the speculative leaders, were fractionally lower. Secondary quotations were better, the general list showing marked recoveries before the end of the first half hour. Trading was relatively light.
Stocks made further recovery after the declines, particularly the specialties, Bethlehem Steel rising six points while standard railways, United States Steel and the coppers shook off their initial heaviness. Later, however, the entire list reacted and grew dull partly as a result of the increasing weakness in Chesapeake & Ohio and a three-point decline in Rock Island.
Bonds were heavy, with one and two-point declines in Rock Island and Missouri Pacific underlying issues.
A sudden advance of three points in Missouri Pacific, followed by an equally abrupt decline of 2¼, was the only feature of the late trading. The close was steady.

HAVE BROKEN RUSSIAN LINE

Petrograd Admits Austro-German Forces Have Crossed San.

EFFORT TO CHECK DRIVE IS FAILURE

Austrian Guns Now Hammering Away at City of Przemysl.

London, May 20.—The Russian fortified line along the river San, running across Central Galicia, on which great reliance was placed to check the Austro-German advance, has been definitely broken. Statements of the Teutonic allies that they had crossed the river are confirmed in an official announcement from Petrograd. Przemysl, which Russia won from Austria after a struggle of several months, is now under attack by Austrian guns. One of the greatest battles is apparently impending along the San. In the north Russians claim successes against the German force, which invaded the Baltic provinces. It is said the Germans have been expelled from Shavli.

Dislodged From Shavli.

A Russian official statement issued at Petrograd received by the Reuter Telegram company, says: "Until now the Germans dare not admit they were dislodged from Shavli on the 11th and they talk of repulsing all sorts of Russian attacks against that town. Nevertheless our front in this region passes to a considerable distance west of Shavli. German official communications augment more than four fold the actual number of prisoners taken at the crossing of the Dubysa river.
"All German efforts against our position east of Drohobyez in Galicia have failed. Up until the present time there was only a single regiment of Russian cavalry garrisoned in the town of Drohobyez. These troops fell quickly behind the infantry with insignificant losses. The Austrians, nevertheless, had the audacity to claim officially that they took 5,000 prisoners at Drohobyez."

AUSTRIANS MAKE STAND.

Big Battle Now Expected Behind River San.

Berlin, May 20.—(Via London 12:01 p. m.)The correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger at Austrian field headquarters has sent in a dispatch reading: "The Austrians have assembled reinforcements behind the river San and have made preparations for a stand. We must therefore anticipate a big battle in the near future. The Teutonic allies already have gained several strong footholds on the other side of the river San and the ring around Przemysl steadily is growing smaller."
A correspondent of the Associated Press at Czernowitz wires that fighting there is continuous and that shrapnel is being used largely against the German and Austrian positions around the city.

POISON WEED CRAZES SHEEP.

More Than 1,100 Dead Near Hamlet of Boyds, Wash.

Spokane, Wash., May 20.—More than 1,100 sheep are dead within a radius of three miles from Boyds, a hamlet seventy-five miles north of Spokane, as the result of eating white camas weed, was the report made here today by L. J. Minnick, a state food inspector., Crazed by the weed, part of the sheep ran wild through the town until they died in convulsions, while hundreds plunged into the Kettle river and were drowned. The sheep were part of a flock of 1,900 shipped there a few days ago to be pastured in the forest reserve.

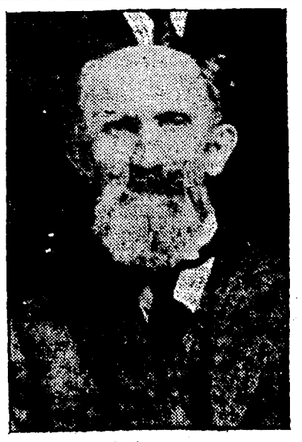
RETIRED EMPLOYE OF NICKEL PLATE DIES

Fred R. Bierbaum Expires After an Illness of Eight Months.

Fred R. Bierbaum, a retired employe of the Nickel Plate railroad, died Wednesday evening at 11:30 o'clock at the family residence, 1230 Barthold street, at the age of 68 years and 1 month. Death was due to a complication of diseases and followed an illness of eight months during which time he had been to the St. Joseph hospital for treatment. All efforts put forth on the part of the attending physicians seemed to be of no avail and his condition continued to become worse.



FRED R. BIERBAUM.

Mr. Bierbaum was born in Westphalen, Germany, but came to America and direct to Fort Wayne forty-two years ago and took employment with the Wabash Railroad company. Later when the Nickel Plate road was built he worked for that company, in whose employment he remained until he retired several years ago.
He was a devout member of St. John's Reformed church and had served for many years on the official board of that congregation. His first wife died eighteen years ago and three years later he was married to Mrs. Minnie Beidelmann, who survives him, as do two daughters and one son: Mrs. Joseph Long, of this city; Mrs. Francis S. Russell, of Chicago, and Edwin Bierbaum, of this city. Twelve grandchildren and four stepsons, John, William, Fred and Albert Beidelmann, of this city, also survive him.

Paul H. Koenig, a cigarmaker, for the past ten years with the Cooney Bayer company, has started in business for himself at 610 East Jefferson street, making the Regal cigar.

FULL POWERS GIVEN TO MINISTER OF WAR

Italian Chamber of Deputies Scene of Wild Cheering as It Prepares for Plunge Into Conflict

BULLETIN.

Amsterdam, May 20.—"No one in Italy any longer doubts that war begins today," is the text of a telegram sent from Chiasso, Switzerland, under date of Thursday (today) and printed in the Berliner Tageblatt.

BULLETIN.

Paris, May 20.—(3:50 p. m.)—Reports have been received here from Rome that the Italian chamber of deputies, by virtually a unanimous vote, today granted full powers to the minister of war.

BULLETIN.

Rome, May 20.—(Via Paris, 6:45 p. m.)—Premier Salandra introduced a bill this afternoon in the chamber of deputies conferring on the government extraordinary powers in case of war. A committee was named to give this project immediate consideration.

WAR ADVOCATE IS CHEERED.

Stirring Scenes Mark Session of Italian Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, May 20.—(5:20 p. m.)—The Temps publishes a telegram from Rome, dispatched at 3 o'clock, in which the correspondent says: "All the galleries of the chamber of deputies were crowded at 1 o'clock, some time before parliament re-assembled. There were 450 deputies in their seats. Only one incident marked the opening of the session: that was when Gabriel d'Annunzio entered the gallery. All the deputies stood up and shouted "Viva d'Annunzio. Viva Italia." (d'Annunzio is known for his very radical stand for war).

Two or three social deputies protested to this demonstration to d'Annunzio but their voices were lost.

"Signor Morora, president of the chamber, took his place at 3 o'clock. All the members of the house and everybody in the galleries stood up to acclaim the former follower of Garibaldi.

"Then Premier Salandra, followed by all the members of the cabinet entered. It was a solemn moment. Then a delirium of cries broke out. 'Viva Salandra' were the words and the cheering lasted for five minutes. Premier Salandra appeared to be much moved by the demonstration.

"After the formalities of the opening, Premier Salandra arose and said: 'Gentlemen: I have the honor to present to you a bill to meet the eventual expenditures of a national war.'

"Prolonged applause followed this announcement. The premier then began an exposition of the situation of Italy before the opening of hostilities in Europe. He declared that Italy had submitted to every humiliation from Austria-Hungary for the love of peace. By her ultimatum to Serbia, the premier said, Austria had annulled the equilibrium of the Balkans and prejudiced Italian interests there. Notwithstanding this evident violation of the treaty of the triple alliance, Italy endeavored during long months to avoid a conflict, but these efforts were bound to have limit in time and dignity. 'This is why the government felt itself forced to present its denunciation of the triple alliance on May 4,' said Premier Salandra.

"These declarations were received with great applause which the premier tried to quiet. When he had succeeded in so doing he said: 'Italy must be united at this moment when her destinies are being decided.'"

ELKS CELEBRATING SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Many Visitors in Attendance from Surrounding Lodges.

Delegations from surrounding lodges began to arrive shortly after noon, Thursday, to be in attendance at the silver anniversary of Fort Wayne lodge, No. 155, B. P. O. E., which promises to be one of the biggest events in the history of the local organization.

The exercises began at 2:30 o'clock, when several candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order. At 5:30 o'clock a concert will be given by the Elks' band to be followed at 6:30 o'clock by the banquet at which Major G. Will Wilson will act as toastmaster.

The speakers of the evening and their subjects are as follows: Charles A. Betzler, "Fellowship;" Edward G. Hoffman, "To Our Charter Members;" Judge Walter Olds, "Fidelity," and Charles A. Bookwalter, ex-mayor of Indianapolis and a former resident of Fort Wayne, "Auld Lang Syne."

The local order of Elks was organized in the winter of 1889. On February 12, 1890, the lodge was instituted with imposing and sometimes wierd ceremonies in the Odd Fellows' hall in what is still known as Harmony hall. Some five or six months later the new lodge moved its habitat to the third floor of the building across the alley, next south to the Tri-State Trust company's present quarters, which it continued to occupy until December 3, 1895, when it moved to the Lau building, southwest corner of Calhoun and Washington streets, upon which it had secured a ten-year lease. The new lodge rooms in the Lau block were magnificently furnished. With larger quarters the entertainments became more frequent and likewise more comprehensive and the membership grew correspondingly.

The present magnificent home of the Elks was moved into on November 20, 1908, and was formally dedicated December 30-31, 1908, and January 1, 1909. The occupancy of the new temple stimulated every member into renewed activity and from a membership of 867, six and one-half years ago, it has grown to 2,025, which is the membership at the present time.

FIGHT ON SAN IS UNDER WAY

Russians and Teutons Are Again Locked in Terrific Combat.

BERLIN DECLARES FOES ARE REPULSED

Artillery Duels Continue Only Activity Along Western Front.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Renewed efforts against the Turks on Gallipoli peninsula have been undertaken by the French and British, with the object of capturing the important strategical position of Krithia. The French are reported to have landed troops to advance against this position in conjunction with a movement from another direction by the British. By thus attacking simultaneously from two sides the allies hope to surround the Turks.

The predicted great battle along the San in central Galicia, apparently is already under way. The official announcement from Berlin today speaks of heavy fighting near Przemysl, which is said to have resulted in great losses for the Russians. Several victories in the north, over the fighting front near the east Prussian border also are claimed by the Berlin war office.

The interval of comparative quiet in the western front has not been broken, so far as the official announcements from Paris and Berlin indicate. The Germans report a slight gain in the Lorette hills.

The British trawler Chrysolite has been sunk by a German submarine in the North sea, off the Scottish coast. The crew was saved.

Berlin, May 20.—(Via London, 11:30 a. m.)—The German army headquarters staff today gave out the following statement:

"In the western theater: Gloomy and hazy weather hindered active fighting in Flanders and northwestern France yesterday. We made a little progress in the Lorette hills. At Ablain a night advance attempted by the enemy was repulsed after hand-to-hand fighting.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle artillery duels were especially fierce. At daybreak the French commenced an attack to the east of Ailly over a wide front, but were everywhere repulsed, in certain sections after hand-to-hand fighting.

"In the eastern theater: We had no engagement with the strong forces of the enemy reported to be advancing on the line of Shadora-Frauenburg. Russian forces advancing south of the Niemen were completely defeated at Gryeszkabuda, Symtwoty and Szaki. Remnants of the enemy's force are fleeing into the forest. Minor divisions are still holding Sutki. The losses of the Russians in killed were very heavy and the number of prisoners for this reason increases by only 2,000. Two hundred and four more machine guns were captured.

"In the southeastern theater: Our troops which penetrated across the San river north of Przemysl again were attacked by the Russians in a desperate assault. The enemy everywhere was repulsed with very considerable losses. This morning we opened a counter attack on one of his wings and stormed the enemy's position. He is fleeing as quickly as possible."

GETTING SOME COMFORT.

English Experts Profess to See Rift in Clouds.

London, May 20.—(12 M.)—The wave of depression which has been sweeping England for the past few days, following the receipt of war news regarded as unfavorable was checked today by the definite announcement of the decision of the government to form a coalition cabinet together with better news from the eastern front.

It is believed here that the Russian advance near Shavli, in Courland, the line of forces of Emperor Nicholas have been straightened out, will do much to counter-act the effect of the Austro-German advance in the vicinity of Przemysl across the river San. The military writers in the morning newspapers claim that only one out of fourteen Russian armies has been in deadly danger, and that Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the Russian forces in the field is playing his usual strategic game of drawing the enemy away from his base.

Petrograd maintains that forty Austrian and German army corps have been used during the fighting of the past fortnight against the center of the Russian line along a front measuring 100 miles.

Reports from Athens set forth that the allies have occupied the Turkish position of Kilid Bahr on the European side of the straits and opposite Chanak.

SALESMEN URGED TO BOOST FORT WAYNE

Will Meet With Manufacturers and Jobbers Friday Evening.

For the purpose of affording the salesmen who travel out of Fort Wayne an opportunity of getting acquainted with the heads of the various jobbing institutions and manufacturing establishments in the city, a meeting will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Anthony hotel.

Albert G. Leitch, of Cleveland, O., who makes a specialty of this kind of work, will be the principal speaker and will explain the methods that should be pursued in a campaign that the salesmen will be urged to wage for boosting Fort Wayne.

One of the big objects of the meeting, which may result in a permanent organization being formed, is to instill in the salesmen the great good they can accomplish as they go from town to town by boosting. He will point out that a salesman should boost other Fort Wayne houses as well as his own. Efficiency among salesmen is another object of the meeting.

Besides Mr. Leitch there will be short talks by a number of jobbers, manufacturers and salesmen. There also will be a buffet lunch and smoker.

BURGLAR STEALS A DOZEN FANCY CAKES

A burglar whose taste ran to interior decorations, pried open two doors in the storeroom on Calhoun street opposite the Cathedral, and occupied by the Scherer Baking company and a wall paper store, and proceeded to decorate his interior with the choicest cakes in stock. What meant wall paper to him, or even a cash drawer, when cakes were there? so he cleaned the show cases and finally the window of its dainties. Officer Kammer, who is on the beat, evidently knew nothing of the robbery, for the turned in no report, and the store was opened before the gaping vacancy in the stock was learned. A dozen cakes were stolen.

FIRE DESTROYS CAR BARN AT LAFAYETTE

Fourteen City Cars Also Consumed in Early Morning Blaze.

Fire of a mysterious origin burned to the ground between 4 and 5 o'clock Thursday morning one of the storage barns of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company at Lafayette, together with fourteen city cars. The loss is fully covered by insurance which the company carried with Schrader & Wilson, of this city.

Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the company, went to Lafayette Thursday afternoon to conduct an investigation. He was accompanied by Ed M. Wilson, who will estimate the loss.

Mr. Greenland stated Thursday morning that the building burned had been used for storage purposes only and so far as he knew there had been no fire in it for some time. The flames had a good start when they were discovered and the firemen devoted their entire time to saving the surrounding buildings.

"Louise," the beautiful brake-test car, valued at $10,000, was destroyed in the fire. This car had been in possession of the company for three years and was considered one of the most beautiful and expensive in the United States. The furniture and trimmings were of solid mahogany.

THREE COTTAGES AT ROME CITY BURNED

(Special to Sentinel)

Rome City, Ind., May 20.—Three cottages and an auto shed on the mainland were destroyed by fire about 6 o'clock this morning as the result of an explosion of a gasoline stove in the cottage of J. D. Hale, of Decatur.

The cottages burned belonged to Barney Neibers, Dr. C. F. Clark and J. D. Hale, all of Decatur. The auto shed was the property of Fred Moore, of Albion.

Mr. Hale had spent the night in his cottage. After lighting the gasoline stove about 6 o'clock he went out for a few minutes. When he returned he found his cottage in a mass of flames. On account of the high wind the blaze spread rapidly to the other cottages. Most of the contents were also consumed.

In an effort to extinguish the blaze Mr. Hale was painfully burned.

ENDS LIFE IN PRISON CELL

Alleged American on Trial as Spy is Suicide in London.

SLATE CARRIES FINAL MESSAGE

Kuepferle Preferred Death by Shooting; Couldn't Stand Gallows.

London, May 20.—(10:14 a. m.)—Anton Kuepferle, who claimed to be an American citizen who once lived in Brooklyn, and who has been on trial charged with giving military information to the enemies of Great Britain, committed suicide last night in Brixton prison. He is reported to have hanged himself.

When court opened this morning for the resumption of the trial the attorney general, Sir John Simon, announced the death of the prisoner to the judges.

"Since the rise of this court last night," the attorney general said, "this man Kuepferle has committed suicide in Brixton prison. He was in a special cell under practically continuous observation, but during one of the short intervals he seized the opportunity of taking his own life."

Last Message on Slate.

Warden Cook produced in court a slate on which the prisoner had written a last message. His communication follows:

"To whom it may concern: My name is Kuepferle and I was born in Rastatt, in Baden. I am a soldier with a rank I do not desire to mention. I can say I have had a fair trial in the United Kingdom, but I am unable to longer stand the strain and I take the law in my own hands. I have fought many a battle and death is the only savior for me. I would prefer death by shooting, but I do not wish to ascend the scaffold as (here the prisoner drew a Masonic sign) and I hope the Almighty architect of the universe will lead me in the unknown land. I am not dying as a spy, but as a soldier. I stood my fate as a man, but I cannot be a liar and perjure myself. I ask you kindly that my uncle, Ambrose Droll, of Rastatt, be notified of my death. I desire that all my estate go to him. What I have done was for my country. I express my

Important Meeting Will Be Held in New York Friday

Whether or not the proposed canal between Lake Erie and Lake Michigan will be of sufficient commercial value to warrant its construction by the federal government is a question which is expected to be definitely answered at an important meeting in New York on Friday.

Gathered in the chamber of commerce to discuss the proposition will be representatives of the Merchants' association of New York, the New York chamber of commerce, the New York board of trade and transportation, the New York produce exchange, the New York state waterways association, the Boston chamber of commerce and the Chicago association of commerce.

P. A. Randall, who has been from the first the leading local exponent of the proposed waterway, believes the New York meeting will have a tremendously important effect upon the project which is now under consideration by the government.

WILSON PRAISES ATLANTIC FLEET

Washington, May 20.—President Wilson's impressions of the Atlantic fleet which he reviewed at New York early this week were set forth in the following statement issued at the white house today upon the president's return:

"I was greatly struck by the appearance of the fleet and the quiet efficiency shown by the officers and men, as I am sure every one must have been who had the pleasure of seeing it assembled at New York. There could have been no more interesting verification of Admiral Dewey's statement that the navy was never in a better or more efficient condition and that the country has every reason to be proud of it not only, but every reason to wish to go forward in its policy of steadily adding to its strength and equipment."

SOCIAL MEETING POSTPONED.

The social afternoon to be held by the ladies' society of the First Presbyterian church at the residence of Mrs. John A. Shoaff, Spy Run avenue, tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed for one week on account of the weather.

PUTS COLONEL ON THE GRILL

Barnes Attorney Subjects Ex-President to Artistic Lambasting.

HE THE JEKYL-HYDE INSTEAD OF BARNES

Noted Libel Action is in Jury's Hands in Court at Albany.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 20.—William M. Ivins, chief counsel for William Barnes in his suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt, concluded his address to the jury today by assailing the former president as being the real possessor of a "Jekyl-Hyde personality" instead of Mr. Barnes.

At the afternoon session Justice Andrews planned to deliver his instructions as the final proceeding before the jury began its consideration of the case. Mr. Ivins in his address said:

"Mr. Barnes didn't have that dual personality. It was this defendant who possesses it. He wanted to do up the Mr. Hyde in Mr. Barnes. So he appointed him to office twice. And when he wanted to defeat race track legislation he called in this man who was struggling between two personalities. The defense sets up that it was wrong for Mr. Barnes to interest himself in the defeat of that bill. And they overlook the fact that it was this defendant as president of the United States who asked him to do it and when this libel was written this defendant wanted to kill Mr. Barnes.

Two Main Exhibits.

"There are two main exhibits in this case. One of them is the defendant; the other is the plaintiff. If Mr. Barnes hesitated on the witness stand it was because he wanted to be sure about things that happened many, many years ago. Look at the defendant; what did he do? Why, he sprang from his chair on one occasion as if it was about to get away from him. He put electricity out of business. He talked with his hands, his feet and his face. His personality was all over the jury box; it permeated the room.

"What right," Mr. Ivins asked, "had this defendant to don the yellow robe of master of morals? He says he cast off Mr. Barnes. The evidence is that Mr. Barnes refused to support him any

Chief Riggs Bank Counsel Has Hot Tilt With Justice McCoy.

Washington, May 20.—Argument in the Riggs bank injunction suit against Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams started off in the district supreme court today with a clash between former Senator Bailey, chief counsel for the bank, and Justice McCoy. Mr. Bailey threatened to withdraw from the case and Justice McCoy threatened to refuse to hear the lawyer's argument.

Senator Bailey was arguing for the admissibility of affidavits disclaiming relations between the bank and Lewis Johnson & Co., bankrupt stockbrokers. Justice McCoy interrupted to say he had already ruled it would be admitted and that further argument only took time.

"Your honor has taken more time than I intended to take for what I intended to say," replied Mr. Bailey.

"Your remarks are highly improper," returned the justice. "Please understand that distinctly. I do not care for any more discussion. Another remark of that kind and some other counsel will argue this case."

Mr. Bailey tossed his papers to the

SAYS SALOON IS A MENACE

Must Go Because of Its Control in Politics, Says Mr. Thieme.

NEW CONSTITUTION NEED IS POINTED

Judge Eichhorn and Other Speakers Urge It in Ft. Wayne Meeting.

Because the saloon is one of the controlling factors in politics and in the framing of legislative matters, Theodore F. Thieme in an address Wednesday evening at the citizens' meeting held in the assembly room of the court house declared most emphatically that the saloon must go.

Mr. Thieme said that the public utilities could never have secured such a stranglehold on the government without the aid of liquor, which he characterized as a serious menace to the country. Mr. Thieme's address will be found in full on another page of The Sentinel.

Judge W. H. Eichhorn, of Bluffton, was the first speaker of the evening. He gave a number of reasons why in his opinion the constitution of Indiana should be rewritten.

The meeting, which was held under the auspices of the Citizens' league, was called to order by Flavius J. Young, former county superintendent of schools, who introduced Attorney William N. Ballou. Mr. Ballou spoke briefly in which he urged that more thought be given of matters pertaining to better citizenship. Other speakers were Frank Hilgeman, secretary of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange; Mrs. C. S. Ridenour, president of the Allen County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and Ross F. Lockridge, secretary of the Citizens' League of Indiana. Charles Butler represented Joseph D. Shaw, president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor.

Address by Judge Eichhorn.

Judge Eichhorn declared that there is a lack of interest in the movement for a new constitution for the reason that so many do not realize this is the very thing necessary to remedy existing conditions against which there is so much complaint. All agree that the present system of taxation is wrong; political conditions are bad; there is something wrong with city government in Indiana, and that reform is needed in the courts, but the people don't seem to understand what method to pursue to rectify these conditions. There is little hope for improvement, the speaker explained, until the constitution is revised.

Judge Eichhorn told of the attempt that had been made to amend the constitution when twenty-two amendments were presented in the legislature. It takes more than amendments, the speaker said, and the only way to bring about the desired results is to re-write the constitution in its entirety.

The present constitution was written in 1851. Since then conditions are so much different that there is no way of making a comparison, the speaker declared.

Under the present constitution a foreigner is permitted to vote in Indiana providing he has lived in the United States one year, while an American-born citizen must live here twenty-one years before he is given that privilege. The question of a woman having the right of suffrage should at least be submitted to the people, Judge Eichhorn said.

In the opinion of the speaker too much of the time of the legislature is taken up in matters of interest to only one or two cities in the state. He would remedy this condition by permitting cities to form their own method of government insofar as the affairs of the city itself is concerned. He said that the people of the state should have a right to say whether they favor the initiative, referendum and recall. He cited the case of the Vigo county judge who is in Leavenworth penitentiary and cannot be removed from office until such time as the supreme court has passed upon the impeachment proceedings filed with that body. He is still receiving his salary, five dollars of which, however, goes to the judge pro tem who is serving until such time as the old judge can be removed and a new judge appointed or elected. Such a condition would not exist with the recall, he said.

Legal Reform Needed.

Judge Eichhorn devoted much time to the imperfections of the present system of courts and the slow legal procedure. He recommended but one court of review consisting of twelve judges, abolishing both the supreme and appellate courts. He also recommended qualifications for lawyers before they be permitted to practice law. Under the present constitution a lawyer is required to take practically the same oath as an applicant for a saloon license, he said. In closing, Judge Eichhorn made a forceful appeal for modernizing the constitution and urged the people to take more interest in the campaign that is being waged to bring this about.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY IS SUGGESTED AS ROUTE

Liberty Bell May Be Taken to Exposition in an Automobile.

Various Fort Wayne organizations have been asked to assist in the movement that has been started to have the Liberty bell taken to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco over the Lincoln highway. The matter was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Fort Wayne Lincoln highway committee at the Commercial club.

Strong arguments are brought to bear by those advocating the trip by road rather than that by rail as was originally proposed. The Lincoln highway is directly available to some 60 per cent of the population of the United States, the route passes through over four hundred cities, towns and hamlets and the citizens for miles around would pour into the route cities to witness the historic passage of the famous bell, for the trip, should it be undertaken as proposed, would be historic. A new crack has been recently noticed in the side of the bell and it is doubtful if another trip will ever be taken.

The whole question turns upon the fact that the bell must be transported in absolute safety. Officers of the Lincoln Highway association claim that they can absolutely guarantee that the bell can be delivered in San Francisco without a mar or a scratch.

At the meeting Wednesday evening Van B. Perrine and A. L. Randall were named to put up the new steel Lincoln highway signs, recently purchased by the club, between Fort Wayne and Churubusco, and J. W. Bell and Martin H. Luecke were assigned the same duty on the portion of the highway in Allen county east of the city.

While at Indianapolis, Thursday, to attend the ceremonial of Murad temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., Postmaster Edward C. Miller will meet Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, and extend to him an invitation to attend the celebration to be held in this city the fore part of June. Acceptances have been received from A. R. Pardington, of Detroit, secretary of the national association, and Carl Fisher, of Indianapolis.

ODD FELLOWS GAIN 502 IN MEMBERSHIP

Indianapolis, May 20.—Jesse Macbeth, of Fort Wayne, will be elected grand master of Indiana Odd Fellows by the grand lodge now in session in this city.

W. H. Leedy, grand secretary, recommended that the grand lodge authorize the appointment of a special agent whose duty will be to assist weak lodges in building up their membership. The order shows a net gain in Indiana for the year of 502. The membership last December was 84,546. The number of lodges in the state is 757.

The amount paid out in relief for the year aggregates $350,090.61. The number of members relieved was 4,203 and the number of families relieved was 169. A total of $8,093,492.66 has been paid out in relief in Indiana since the organization of the order in this state in 1837.

The Grand lodge building committee, since last November, has authorized the erection of lodge buildings at Arcadia, Milton, Dunfee, New Harmony, Dupont and Ashboro.

ARGUES LUSITANIA WAS LAWFUL PRIZE

Amsterdam, via. London, May 20—(6:01 a. m.)—Numerous incorrect statements regarding the Lusitania which have appeared in the German press are pointed out by Captain Knezelwetter in the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger. He declares the Lusitania was not an auxiliary cruiser, "but she was a hostile vessel and therefore a lawful prize.

"The cargo was composed mainly of contraband," the writer continues, "and was liable to condemnation. Under the law a ship and cargo, if it is impossible to tow them into a harbor, can be destroyed. Moreover, the crew could be classified as franc-tiereurs, thus standing outside the law and making their lives forfeit.

"Every German vessel is justified in expecting an attack contrary to law from every British merchantman, even if unarmed, for the British government has encouraged such attacks by offering rewards for them. Therefore, every British ship with its crew is liable to destruction lawfully."

ITALY TO DECLARE HER POLICY TODAY

Rome, May 20.—Austria's final proposals have been rejected unanimously by the Italian council of ministers and the two nations are a step nearer war. The Italian parliament assembles today and a declaration of the government's policy is expected.

The minimum demands made upon Austria in behalf of Italy by Foreign Minister Sonnint were:

First—The cession of the entire province of Trent (part of the Austrian Tyrol; according to the frontier of the kingdom of Italy in 1881).

Second—Eastern Friueli, comprising Malbergeth, Plezzo, Tolmio, Gradizica, Goritz, Monfalcone, Comen and as far south as Nabresini.

Third—Trieste, Cap d'Istria and Rirano (the last two in Istria) to form a new state independent from Austria.

Fourth—The islands of Curzola, Lissa, Lesina, Lagosta, Cazza and Meleda (off the coast of Lower Dalmatia) to be ceded to Italy.

Fifth—The abandonment by Austria of her interests in Albania; acknowledging Italian sovereignty over Avlona.

Steps in Negotiations.

Diplomatic documents which disclose each successive step in the negotiations which resulted in Italy's denunciation of her treaty of alliance with Austria and Germany are contained in the green book issued by the Italian government. This history of diplomatic interchanges begins with a telegram sent by Foreign Minister Sonnino to the Duke of Avarna, Italian minister at Vienna on Dec. 9, 1914, instructing him to notify Count von Berchtold, then Austrian foreign minister, that the Austrian advance in Servia constituted a fact covered in article 7 of the triple alliance treaty entitling Italy to compensations. Count von Berchtold replied that his opinion did not agree with this view but on December 20 intimated that he had begun to change his mind. Baron Burian, who succeeded Count von Berchtold, tried to evade any definite expression of opinion.

The Duke of Avarna in January telegraphed that Austria evidently was trying to get in time but that she undoubtedly was being pressed by Germany. On March 9 Austria consented to discuss compensations. Foreign Minister Sonnino laid down the cardinal points of the Italian demands. Baron Burian answered that Austria would not accept. Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador in Rome, on March 20, in the name of Germany, guaranteed the execution, after the conclusion of peace, of any agreement made by Austria. Signor Sonnino agreed to resume negotiations on the condition that Vienna would make concrete proposals. Several days later Baron Burian asked Italy to give formal agreement to the following clauses: First, the maintenance of a benevolent, political and economic neutrality throughout the war; second, Austria to have a free hand in the Balkans; third, the renunciation on the part of Italy of any further compensation, and fourth, the maintenance of the existing Italio-Austrian accord concerning Albania. On April 2 Baron Burian added that in exchange for these pledges Austria would give to Italy the districts of Roveredo, Servia and Trentino, as well as a few villages.

Signor Sonnino replied he considered these demands contemptible; nevertheless they were permitted to stand.

The rumors of a separate Austro-Russian peace persisting, Rome asked Vienna for a definite answer. In reply Vienna added a small zone in the province of Trent to the Italian compensation. On April 25 the Duke of Avarna reported that the Austrian government did not believe Italy ever would make war, and that consequently Vienna regarded a continuance of the discussions as useless.

On receipt of this report Signor Sonnino denounced the alliance with Austria-Hungary.

Secretary of War Tells Mohonk Conference It is U. S. Duty.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 20.—The problem of armaments which has evoked more discussion than any other question before the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, was brought to the front again today by an address of Secretary of War Garrison. The secretary's topic was "The Problem of National Defense," and he left no doubt of the fact that he favored strengthening the national defenses and making the United States ready to protect itself from any and all aggression.

"I am utterly out of sympathy," he declared, "with the idea that we should neglect or postpone consideration of what is now the existing condition, because of a hope or a belief or even conviction that it may be altered, even radically altered in the future."

"The Roots of War" were discussed in a paper by Oscar S. Straus, of New York, formerly minister to Turkey. Mr. Straus was unexpectedly called home yesterday but his paper was read by the secretary. "One of the great curses of war," he said, "is that it settles by force, and what is settled by force is seldom, if ever, settled justly, and because such a settlement is not just it leaves behind it the dragon teeth of future conflict."

Other speakers were Hamilton Holt, of New York, editor of the Independent, and John B. Clark, professor of political economy in Columbia university. They talked about the feasibility of a league of peace.

SEES JACKIES SEWING SHIRTS FOR SAILORS

Nixola Greeley-Smith Has a Look at Uncle Sam's Atlantic Fleet.

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)

New York, May 20.—I looked at the grim gray battleships, the sleeping beauties of the Atlantic fleet, as they lie at anchor in the North river and decided that like nearly everybody else in New York I wanted to go out and look one over from top to bottom and tell you just what life on a battleship is like. They're all here for the big review.

So we went out to Admiral Fletcher's flagship, the Wyoming. "We" were my sister, one of my best friends, Mrs. Bearss, wife of Capt. H. L. Bearss of the U. S. marine corps, the nice captain of a battleship now at Norfolk, Va., and myself.

At the foot of 79th street we were met by one of the flagship's launches. We recognized Col. Benjamin H. Fuller, who had come to meet us. Col. Fuller commands the marines of the Atlantic fleet.

Once aboard the Wyoming the members of the party settled themselves in the senior officer's ward room, a long, comfortable place filled with books and pictures and magazines but with two shiny five-inch guns at either end.

Then Commander Cyrus Miller took me over the Wyoming and as she has eight decks and about 1,200 men aboard you can imagine that it was some journey.

We went to the bread room, a sort of large pantry filled with row upon row of freshly baked bread. I saw the bread cut by machinery and along side it a butter machine turning out 20 squares at one chop—enough butter for one mess, the commander said.

Then I saw the storeroom filled with canned goods, tea and coffee and huge bunches of bananas. There I read the Wyoming bill of fare for the next week. There was a typewritten slip for every day and the meals made one's mouth water.

On the Sunday preceding the men had pork and beans, oranges, coffee, and bread and butter for breakfast and chicken gumbo soup, roast chicken, two vegetables and ice cream for dinner.

Next I saw the printing office where all the orders and the program for this review were printed; and where the enlisted men issue their own magazine. "The Coyote," so-called because the coyote is one of Wyoming's distinguished citizens. There I was presented with a copy of the first issue—for the Coyote was only born this May and I was interviewed by one of the editors who asked me all about my impressions of the battleship.

Aft on this deck Jack Tar and Miss New York were dancing. About us everywhere were row after row of ditty boxes, the square, unpainted wooden receptacles where the sailor boys kept their dearest treasures. One Jackie volunteered to show me what was in his ditty box.

"If you have a girl in every port I'm sure it's full of pretty photographs," I said to him. And he answered with a wistfully smile. "Well, I'll show you."

So he opened the ditty box and I saw in it neatly piled letters in a woman's faded writing, a program of athletic events and just one photograph, that of a sweet-faced woman with parted gray hair and sad, lovely eyes.

"My mother," said the young sailor dropping his voice. "She died at our home way out in Iowa last year. These are her letters to me."

Later on I saw the tailoring establishment where Jack has his clothes made and mended. It looks very funny I can tell you, to see one of our sailor boys pedalling away at a sewing machine while two or three shipmates waited about with garments to be repaired.

Then I looked down a dizzy space—we were on the second deck and there were six decks below to where the torpedoes are kept.

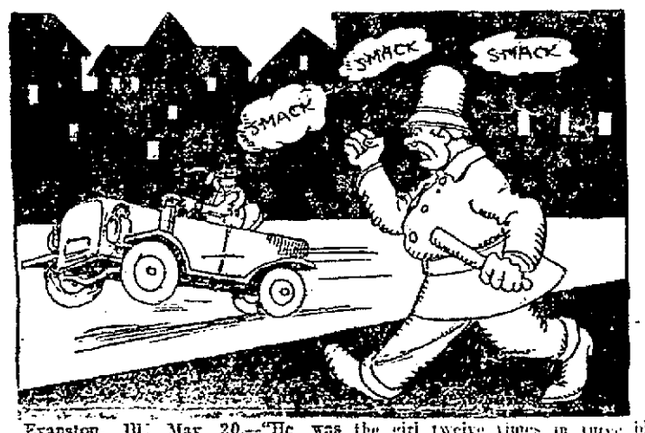
And the thought of those torpedoes sobered me. It was queer to realize, so suddenly, that this flagship so full of gayety with its dancing sailors, its thronging visitors, its holiday air is ready for grim war at any moment. Back in the officers' wardroom we found them telling stories. Here is a story a captain told of the visit the late King Edward of England paid to his ship once when it was at Cowes.

"He was then Prince of Wales," the captain said, "and he came aboard with his two daughters, The Princesses Victoria and Maud. The visit passed off perfectly. We had dressed the yards in honor of the royal visit, that means—he explained for the benefit of the landlubbers present—that we had men in the rigging.

"As the prince and the princesses were going down the gang plank and we were all congratulating ourselves that the royal visit had ended so successively the silence was so intense that you could hear a pin drop. But a pin didn't drop. Instead a high Yankee voice came out of the rigging as a scornful jackie took a birdseye view of the retreating royalty.

"'Thank God, we haven't got any of THEM THINGS in OUR country,' he said."

SMACKED SPEED LIMIT ALL TO PIECES—TWELVE TIMES IN THREE BLOCKS.



Evanston, Ill., May 20.—"He was the girl twelve times in three blocks, speedin'," charged the cop—"twelve times in three blocks, yer honor."

"Whatchamean, twelve times in three blocks," demanded the judge, "did you read his speedometer?" "Naw," said the cop. "I read his osculameter; he kissed and that's strainin' the speed limit some in Evanston."

"Five and costs," announced the judge. "Kissing bugs a dangerous bug at any time, but a kissing bug in an automobile is too dangerous to run at large. Next time it will be jail."

Psalm 30:1-12.

1 I will extol thee, O Lord; for thou hast lifted me up, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou has healed me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave; thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.

4 Sing unto the Lord, O ye saints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.

5 For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperity I said, I shall never be moved.

7 Lord, by thy favour thou hast made my mountain to stand strong; thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 I cried to thee, O Lord; and unto the Lord I made supplication.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? Shall the dust praise thee? shall it declare thy truth?

10 Hear, O Lord; and have mercy upon me; Lord, be thou my helper.

11 Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing; thou hast put off my sackcloth, and girded me with glad-ness;

Keeping Up the Fight

Opponents of constitutional revision in Indiana who cherished the belief that the question was definitely and finally laid upon the shelf by the refusal of the voters last year to authorize the calling of a constitutional convention are doubtless willing by this time to admit that they were mistaken. The meeting held in Fort Wayne Wednesday night under the auspices of the Citizens' League of Indiana, in which men and women of all shades of political belief argued the necessity for a new and modernized constitution for Indiana was but one of a series of similar meetings that are being held all over the state, and their sponsors make it clear that the fight will be continued uninterruptedly until victory is won.

As a matter of fact, the educational work along this line now being done is doubtless of much more value than that attempted during the heat of a political campaign, with party issues and party candidates serving to detract from a thorough and unbiased consideration of a matter that is of much more vital importance to Indiana than can be the outcome of any single political campaign. While emphasis has from the first been placed on the fact that the movement was wholly non-partisan and that it sought only better government and a larger measure of popular rights for the people, it was impossible to entirely divorce the effort from the campaign issues in the minds of the people. There was lack of sufficient time to make the campaign for the new constitution broadly educational, and coming as it did in the thick of the political fight it utterly failed to command attention commensurate with its importance.

The between-campaign propaganda now being carried forward by the Citizens' League, however, affords both time and opportunity for a thorough study of the proposition and an accounting of the benefits in governmental improvement held out by a revision of the state's basic law. It may now be considered without the suspicion of political design and without doing violence to your enthusiasm for any candidate or any party platform. The Sentinel trusts the Indiana voter will not fail to take up serious study of the need for the new constitution under these circumstances. It is his clear duty as a citizen to inform himself upon the question, for he is going to be confronted with it at the next election, and indeed at as many succeeding elections as shall be necessary to thoroughly convince the people that in retaining the present archaic constitution they are denying themselves progress in government that is rightfully theirs and that they should be enjoying.

Bills agreed upon in the Illinois legislature will provide some $2,750,000 for highway improvement in that state within the next two years. One of the things both states and counties are effectually learning nowadays is that judicious expenditure of funds for highway improvement is not an expense but an investment that is certain to yield rich returns. The country has never known an era of enthusiasm and liberality in road-building such as that which is now upon us, and it would be difficult to imagine a movement from which more benefit and more progress will result.

Both Italy and Austria have taken time by the forelock and asked the United States to look after their respective diplomatic affairs in Vienna and Austria in the event of a new outbreak of the world war that it now seems impossible to avert. American embassies and consulates in all the countries at war are now exercising their good offices in caring for the interests of various belligerents and the assortment of duties of this character we have taken on is an amazing one. The role of friend to all of them, however, is infinitely to be preferred to being at war with any of them.

Speakers before the national conference of charities and corrections at Baltimore argued that what has come to be known as the injunction and abatement law—placing punitive emphasis on the property owner and not the inmate—is the most effective measure yet devised to fight commercialized vice. It must be admitted, however, that a determined crowd of authorities who are in earnest in their purpose to stamp out commercialized vice are not to be sneered at for real efficacy under almost any law that may be at their disposal.

Statistics gathered by County Agent Henry are said to show that one out of every four Allen county farmers is the owner of an automobile. It is but a very few years since the farmer was credited with being the sworn foe of the automobile, whether, as a matter of fact, there was any basis for such suspicion or not. The farmer has been in no wise behind the town dweller in appreciating the tremendous value of the auto car in meeting modern needs of transportation, and he is wisely proceeding to avail himself of its advantages.

An Allen county man has been sentenced to jail by Judge Link, of the DeKalb circuit court, for failure to obey the court's order to support his children after he had secured a divorce from his wife. It is evident that dereliction of this sort isn't in any higher favor in DeKalb county than it is right here at home.

It will occur to the average man that Mr. Barnes might as well have saved his witnesses. Everybody is willing to concede that no one ever was a boss of T. Roosevelt successfully.

OUR NATIONAL WEALTH.

(Indiana Daily Times)

The United States is the richest country in the world. Statistics just issued by the census bureau in Washington places our national wealth at $187,739,000,000, or $1,963 for each man, woman and child in the country. Of course these figures are not accurate in that they are far below the country's actual wealth, but they are of absorbing interest since they indicate the stupendous resources of our country which is looked upon as one of the youngest of the nations.

Some of the figures given out in the bureau's report are as follows:

The total wealth of New York, $25,011,000,000, is the greatest shown for any state, while Illinois and Pennsylvania, with $15,484,000,000 and $15,458,000,000, respectively are close rivals for second place. Other states which rank second place. Other states, which rank high in total wealth are Ohio, with $8,908,000,000; California, $8,464,000,000; Iowa, $7,868,000,000; Texas, $6,860,000,000; Massachusetts, $6,303,000,000; Missouri, $5,842,000,000; New Jersey, $5,743,000,000; Minnesota, $5,547,000,000; Michigan, $5,427,000,000, and Indiana, $5,195,000,000. No other state is credited with as much as $5,000,000,000.

When the comparison are applied on a per capita basis, however, a very different showing is made. The highest per capita gure for wealth in the hands of individual and commercial organizations—that is, exclusive of the non-taxable property owned by governmental, educational, charitable and religious institutions—is given for Nevada, $4,865. Next in order come Iowa, with $3,345; North Dakota, $3,210; California, $3,113; Nebraska, $2,954; Montana, $2,743; Colorado, $2,668; Kansas, $2,525; Oregon, $2,523, and Illinois, $2,507. In no other state was the figure as high as $2,500. Only three states—Illinois, California and Iowa—for which the total valuations were high also per capita figures.

That assessed valuations do not, in themselves, furnish any index to the actual wealth of the various states is brought out in a striking manner by a table showing the ratios between assessed and estimated true valuations of property throughout the United States. These ratios vary from 11.7 per cent in Iowa to 100 per cent in New Hampshire and Wyoming. In eleven states they are 33 1-3 per cent or less; in twenty-four states, 50 per cent or less, and in thirteen states, 66 2-3 per cent or more.

AMERICANS

(Kansas City Star)

The tone of the newspaper comment from every part of the United States demonstrates what every American knew in advance, that the country is united behind the president.

Americans of native parentage probably never will fully appreciate the distress which circumstances have brought on fellow Americans of German ancestry. Their generous recognition of the obligations of patriotism is the more gratifying because of the strain under which it comes.

Whatever our ancestry or parentage we are about to demonstrate to the world once more that we are all Americans by virtue of our allegiance to that noble body of principles for which true Americanism stands.

POISON IN FOOD SAMPLES.

State Food and Drug Chemists Make Startling Announcement.

Indianapolis, May 20.—Chemists of the state food and drug department have reported that they found large quantities of various deadly poisons in samples of flour, dough, bread and pies sent to them by Dr. A. T. Fagaly, health officer of Dearborn county. An investigation will be made in an effort to determine whether the flour was poisoned purposely or by mistake. A number of persons are said to have become ill as a result of eating the products of the flour, but the poisons were discovered before enough was consumed to cause any deaths, it is believed.

thanks and may the Lord bless you all. Yours, etc. KUEPFERLE."

On the other side of the slate the man had written: "I was born June 11, 1883."

Wanted Court Martial.

It appears that Kuepferle made every effort to obtain a trial by court martial knowing that if sentenced to death by a military court he would be shot, whereas civil court's sentence would mean death by hanging. It was stated that after yesterday's hearing in camera, Kuepferle realized the hopelessness of his position and preferred suicide to the gallows.

The attorney general, Sir John Simon, added that three letters produced in yesterday's session all contained information calculated to be of use to Great Britain's enemies. The session was closed with the expression of satisfaction by Lord Reading, the lord chief justice, at swiftness with which the letters had been detected and their author traced and arrested.

"There is no doubt as to the character of the communications," he said. "It was quite clear the prisoner had been at the front and was longing to be there again."

The Warden's Testimony.

Chief Warden Cook, who is in charge of the prison, has testified that last night the night patrol officer, a warden named Perry, came to him and said: "I cannot see the prisoner." Warden Cook immediatel yarose and opening the cell door he found the prisoner hanging by the neck from a ventilator in a corner behind the door. He had used a silk scarf to commit suicide and he was hanging clear of the floor. Warden Cook cut the scarf and summoned the prison doctor. The man's body was still warm, but he could not be revived.

The trial of Anton Kuepferle began Tuesday at the Old Bailey police court before Lord Chief Justice Reading and Justices Avery and Lush. The proceedings were public and the court room was crowded. The charge against the prisoner was that he attempted to communicate to Germany information respecting British warships and military forces. The prosecution was conducted by the attorney general. Kuepferle pleaded not guilty. The prosecution contended that while he claimed to be a naturalized American citizens he was in reality a German.

Kuepferle was charged with writing a letter to an address in a neutral country in Europe giving valuable facts regarding English military dispositions. It was asserted that while the letter appeared on its face to be an innocent commercial communication it was found to be interlined in invisible ink with military information written in the German language. Kuepferle arrived in Liverpool on Feb. 14. He showed a passport signed by Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan issued ten days prior to his sailing from New York. In writing the letter, which resulted in his arrest he gave his home address at 1165 DeKalb avenue, Brooklyn. He represented himself to be a woolen merchant. From Liverpool he went to Dublin and then to London, where he was arrested February 16. His hearing was resumed yesterday in Old Bailey but was in camera "in the interests of the national safety."

Kuepferle left a message written on a slate bearing testimony to the fairness of his trial. He confessed he was a soldier, said he wished to die as a soldier and declared he could not bear to mount the scaffold as a spy.

HYPNOTISM SHOWS IN WILSON TRIAL

Defense Plans to Prove Lawyer Jacobs Was a Mesmerist.

(Special to The Sentinel).

Van Wert, O., May 20.—That Lawyer Levi X. Jacobs, slain March 26 by his housekeeper, Miss Lulu Wilson, was endowed with hypnotic powers, prided himself upon that singular gift, boasted of it and had so held a mental sway over a young woman with whom he once was on terms of great friendly intimacy to such extent tha for years she spoke of it and finally under the spell lost her reason, was one of the points the defense expected to develop this afternoon in the trial of Miss Wilson for killing Jacobs. The importance of this lies in the purpose of the defense to establish that Jacobs' slayer was of unsound mind at the time of the shooting and that the possession and exercise of such a power by Jacobs might reasonably have contributed to her state of mind.

The state closed its examination in chief late Wednesday afternoon and the defense precipitated the most strenuous legal battle of the trial when it sought to prove by George W. Bender, who was passing the Jacobs home at the time of the killing and heard the shots fired and a moment later Miss Wilson flee from the house to the home of a neighbor, that he had seen Jacobs at different times in Fort Wayne during the latter part of November and the early part of December in the Eagles' club in Fort Wayne, and drinking there. The state objected that the defense could not show by specific acts what the general character and reputation of the lawyer were. For an hour the lawyers fought and adjournment for the day found the battle unfinished. This morning the defense withdrew Bender and the legal point remained undecided.

The defense argued that its defense was both insanity and self-defense, and that it was not yet determined upon which it would go to the jury, but that it should be permitted to offer testimony as to self-defense.

The testimony today consisted in large part of the statements of women who knew Miss Wilson and saw much of her. By them it was the purpose of the defense to show that prior to the first of this year she was rational, normal, cheerful and happy, and that since then had been in failing health, morbid, melancholy, anaemic, much given to staring into space and strange actions. Dr. W. E. Lawhead, formerly of Van Wert, and now of Lima, testified that several months ago while attached to the medical service of the United States army at Washington he got a packet of green pills from Miss Wilson, who wrote a request that he analyze them for poison. The defense contends that the prisoner was for some time in constant fear that Jacobs would take her life by that means.

The court room is crowded with spectators, women predominating. It is believed the defense will not complete its examination in chief before tomorrow evening or Saturday morning.

CLASH WITH COURT AS BAILEY STARTS

table and turning away, replied: "If the court feels that way about it I will withdraw from this case now."

"Do as you please about that," retorted the judge, "but don't make such a remark again."

Several of the bank's lawyers surrounded Senator Bailey and after some conference he said to the court: "I feel that I owe to my clients a duty higher than any I owe to myself. Therefore I will remain and continue the argument."

"I also feel I owe a duty to your clients," replied Judge McCoy, "and that will lead me to dismiss what you have said from my mind."

Whereupon the argument proceeded.

ATTACK ON CUSHING SCORED BY CAPTAIN

German Airman's Bombardment Called "Deliberate and Dastardly."

Philadelphia, May 20.—Captain Lars Larsen Herland of the American oil tanker Cushing arrived here yesterday with his ship and submitted to his employers a report dealing with the attack made on the Cushing on April 28 by a German aeroplane, which dropped three bombs, one of which struck the rail of the vessel.

In this report the captain refers to the bomb-throwing as a "dastardly act, a deliberate attempt to sink an unarmed vessel and murder the members of the crew." A copy of this report will be forwarded to the state department at Washington.

The German airman swept in narrow circles over the tanker, trying to get directly over the funnel, with the idea, apparently, of dropping a bomb down it and wrecking her engine room.

The crew, at first swarming on deck, quickly beat a retreat to the forecastle, and no one was hurt by the explosion of the bomb which did strike the Cushing.

The attack occurred while the Cushing was about twenty-five miles from Antwerp and eight miles from the North Hinder lightship. It was near 7 o'clock in the evening, but there was ample light to see every detail of the attack, and also for the pilot of the biplane to see the words, "Cushing, New York, United States of America," painted on each side of the vessel in letters eight feet high, and to note the Stars and Stripes at the masthead and the taffrail.

On her return journey from Antwerp to this port the Cushing grazed a floating mine in the North sea, but so gently that no explosion followed.

The Cushing was bound for Rotterdam with 9,000 tons of crude oil, consigned to the government of Holland, at the time of the attack.

MASONS BEHIND PRESIDENT.

Fealty of Order Is Pledged in Address by W. L. Taylor.

Indianapolis, May 20.—Masonry stands for peace, but the two million Masons of America will stand behind President Wilson as one man in an international crisis that may arise, according to William L. Taylor, who made an address here late yesterday at the Scottish Rite golden jubilee banquet. More than 5,000 lodgemen attended the banquet, which was one of the features of the celebration of the founding of Scottish Rite Masonry in the valley of Indianapolis.

Thomas R. Marshall, vice-president of the United Staates, and James E. Watson, former representative, also spoke briefly.

The erection of a costly Scottish Rite temple in Indianapolis as a monument in honor of the anniversary which is being celebrated was authorized at the banquet. The temple will cost about $500,000.

Craig—Sharp.

A pretty home wedding of Thursday took place at half past 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride, Miss Alma Belle Sharp, who was united in marriage to Mr. George Walter Craig, son of Mrs. Prudence Craig, by Rev. O. E. Tomes, pastor of the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ. Miss Marie Dinius, of Jackson, Mich., played the wedding march as the bridal couple entered the parlor and without attendants stood in front of a group of small palms and ferns. Miss Dinius played the Marionettes' wedding march by Giannini. The bride was simply gowned in an embroidered voile with satin girdle and she wore nothing on her hair which was simply but beautifully arranged. The finishing touch to the costume was a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley arranged in a shower effect. Immediately after the bride and groom had received the felicitations of the family an elegant wedding dinner was served. Mrs. Markel catered. The table was decorated in pink and white with a tall vase of pink Killarney roses for the center. The bride and groom will spend a few days out of the city and on their return will be at home at 912 Hanover street, where they are to keep house. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sharp, of 710 West Superior street. She was educated in the public schools and after graduation from the high school the bride went to the University of Michigan and got her training in library work. Although quiet and very unassuming in manner the bride is a young woman of much force of character and charm of manner. Mr. Craig is a fine young man who is bookkeeper for the National Handle company. Both bride and groom are young people who enjoy the friendship and good wishes of many acquaintances. Miss Doswell had charge of the decorations for the wedding which were of snowballs and ferns aside from the bridal table.

IS GIVING FLOWER DANCES.

San Diego Tribune Gives Sketch of Miss Hulda Hanker's Work.

In referring to the flower carnival to be given in San Diego, Cal., in connection with the exposition there, the Evening Tribune says:

"Exquisitely beautiful will be the rose dance arranged by Miss Hulda Hanker and Miss Cornelia Strobhar by the pupils of their dancing class, numbering forty little girls, and 108 little girls between the ages of seven and fifteen, from the public schools, who will form the chorus and who have been given free instruction by Miss Hanker and Miss Strobhar for the floral association fete Saturday at the exposition.

"The dance is much like some given here by Pavlowa and is considered one of the most beautiful of the dances arranged by Schalis, of New York, from whom both Miss Hanker and Miss Strobhar received their instruction.

"The children in Grecian, Russian and Hungarian costumes will dance with wreaths and garlands of roses and the finale will be a battle of roses. Arranged in a semi-circle below the organ platform will be the chorus of 108 girls with their garlands and on the stage will be the forty solo dancers. Given at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the warm California sun bathing the plaza and the classic structure housing the great organ as a background, this will undoubtedly be one of the most artistic of the many out-of-door performances given in the unusual settings which the exposition grounds afford.

"Miss Hanker, who returned from Europe last fall when the war was declared, having intended studying in Paris through the winter, remarked at the wonderful musical sense of the children who heretofore had no instruction in dancing and praising the instruction given in the public schools which gave the little folks such a keen sense of time and rhythm. They have entered into the spirit of the entertainment and are enthusiastic over their part in the celebration."

ONE MAN YOU CANNOT MAKE LAUGH.

"Waxen Figure" in Barker-Rose Window Is Arthur Ross of New York.

PERFECT AUTOMATON.

He Doesn't Perspire at All Simply Because He Trains Against It.

The crowds standing in front of the Barker-Rose Clothing company store on Calhoun street in the afternoons are trying to decipher whether the mechanically moving figure in the window is made of wax or of flesh and blood. For forty minutes Wednesday afternoon the figure stood in the window making its automatic movements, always describing the same jerky doll-like twists and turns, without so much as moving a solitary muscle of the eye, while no facial expression or motion of the lips, throat or chest gave evidence of the figure being otherwise than artificial.

How does he do it? Is he a real man or an image? How can he prevent the nerves and muscles of the eyes and lips from moving involuntarily? How does he breathe without disclosing some movement of the body? If he is a real man, why does he not perspire in so hot a place? These are some of the most commonly heard queries concerning this man who deceives hundreds of people every time he poses.

This extremely clever artist, engaged for a short time to advertise Kuppenheimer clothing, sold at the Barker-Rose company's store, is Arthur Ross of New York city, who has been giving this kind of automaton performances for the last nine years in various parts of the country, having visited all the larger cities of the United States as a "wax figure." The pretty young woman who accompanies him, acting as operator of the figure, manipulating the alleged electric wires supposed to furnish the power for the various movements, is Miss Florence Mac, and the team is a great winner in doing the cleverest advertising stunt ever put into a window.

It is not that he does this so well, but that he does it at all, that keeps one wondering. To be able to do this difficult and seemingly impossible work this figure-man must take the very best care of his physical health. He uses no stimulants, drinks no coffee, tea or other drink than water and milk, eats only the most wholesome and easily digested foods. In this manner and by taking abundant recreation with plenty of sleep, he keeps his nerves in the pink of condition all the time, else he could not control his nerves and muscles as he does.

The Brudi Transfer company have removed from 718 Calhoun street to 325 E. Columbia street. Their new quarters are much larger than at the old location and they are now prepared for the storage of automobiles, etc.

CUBS DROP RAGGED ONE TO THE VETS

Tired from Long Ride and Affected by Cold, Were in Bad Shape.

It wouldn't have been so bad if it hadn't been ladies' day, but the idea of subjecting helpless women and children to the horrors of it passes the wildest imagination. As it was there were no fatalities, and after two hours and five minutes of agony the Dayton Vets tucked yesterday's game under their arms and left the Cubs on the field with nothing but the cold and their disgrace for company.

Dayton has nothing to crow over on that game, for although the Vets did cop it 9 and 3, the Fort Wayne gang never showed to poorer advantage, and never played a looser game. It was the cold, undoubtedly, that got the local boys on the bad track, and once started, the brakes never had a show.

Ainsworth went in for the locals, but the defeat can hardly be laid at his door, for time and again where he should have been saved by fielding, the Cubs simply couldn't get there. Although only six errors are chalked against the locals, there were a score of other places where snappy fielding would have saved them.

In the first square Sykes went out and Hobbs hit in the general direction of Hartsell, who fell over himself and allowed the runner to get to first. Horan slapped another one toward Hartsell, who bobbled it a moment, with Brant acting as a stage setting, and two men were safe. Spencer then pushed a slow one toward third, and Bell wasn't there to get it, Hobbs crossing the plate with all hands on deck and looking wild-eyed and helpless.

Fort Wayne pushed ahead in the second half. Smith and Bratchi got to third and second with a single apiece and a sacrifice by Brant. Holderman singled, scoring one, and Hartle followed with a sacrifice fly that meant another counter.

The second was scoreless, and in the third and fourth the Vets got another pair. Hartsell contributed to the amusement by heaving wildly toward first in the third. Four more piled up for Dayton in the fifth, and the pink-haired Mr. Ainsworth got disgusted and simply couldn't get himself down to his best work.

In the fifth Fort Wayne got her last run. Smith and Bratchi walked and Brant sent Smith home with a husky drive.

One more in the sixth and a final in the ninth finished Dayton's end of the scoring and the Cubs muffed several nice little chances to get a man across.

It was the cold weather that affected our hopefuls yesterday, for even the best of them were helpless. Hartsell, who has been one of the strong men of the league so far this season, and Brant, whose ability as a shortstop is doubted by none, fell down miserably. Even Beyers, hitting for Ainsworth in the ninth, allowed three strikes to flit past him. The boys did not seem able to unbend themselves, and there was little doubt that every last one of them suffered from the weather. They had a hard night on the road and were tired and stiff when they reached home, and to go into the kind of weather that was dished out to them simply spilled the beans.

Today, after a good night's rest and the application of liniment, they will be in better shape and are going into the game to make a win. Score:

A NEW PLAYER WHO IS MAKING GOOD— LAVAN OF THE BROWNS LOOKS GREAT.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

Johnny Lavan, of the St. Louis Browns, is one of the best of the younger crop of ball players. His work last year was one of the sensations of the American league race and he is showing improvement this spring, especially in team hitting. With a better first baseman to throw at he can use his speed in handling a ball more effectively and his throwing is better.

THE SPEED MANIACS TO FORM A UNION

Indianapolis, May 20.—An organization of racing drivers, comparable to the "Players' Fraternity" in baseball, is being promoted by several racing stars now in Indianapolis for the next speedway race. Barney Oldfield, Bob Burman and Earl Cooper are said to be leaders in the movement, this trio representing the cream of the American racing fraternity, and, therefore, acting with some authority.

The object of the new association is denoted by its title, "Auto Driver's Protective Association," with its chief duties the protection of drivers' lives and property, and the advancement of their general financial interest.

The latter object is one which, it is thought, will give other factions in the racing game, notably the promoters, much concern. It is thus rumored that one of the first acts of the new organization will be to ask the Indianapolis motor speedway to split with drivers all gate admissions collected during practice for the next 500 mile race. The drivers furnish the attraction, it is argued, and, therefore, should profit in proportion.

Another point to be raised, it is said, is the matter of entrance money. Promoters have no right to ask entrance fees of the men who furnish their show, it is stated, but should, on the other hand, make definite guarantees to drivers, said guarantee to be uniform to everybody, so that everyone may have an even chance.

A number of other minor points are under discussion, such as the problem of properly fencing dirt tracks, standardization of racing contracts, etc. These are to be definitely settled in the near future in a set of by-laws.

What the upshot of the matter will be is difficult to determine. To date only the drivers have expressed their opinion, the American Automobile association and various track owners withholding their views until they are more thoroughly informed of the proposition.

CHAMP SPRINTER SAYS HE NEVER TRAINS

San Francisco, May 20.—Howard Drew, world's champion 100 yard runner, doesn't train, incredible as that may sound. His races keep him in trim.

His contests are frequent enough, Drew recently explained, to preserve a top-notch physical condition.

"I don't need to train," he said. "Once or twice since coming to California I have had to work out to keep the fat down. That is because racing meets out here are so much less frequent than in the east."

HOWARD DREW.

Drew, a 5 foot 8 bundle of compact muscle, declared that the California climate was responsible for less speed in western runners than in the sprinters and long distance men of the east.

"California climate, especially in the south, makes one feel lazy," he said. "To become a long distance runner you must peg away constantly, circling the track almost without end. That's the way you develop form and wind, and speed comes with these. But in southern California, and here too, I imagine the fellows have to over-exert to do this. The weather is too warm. They get the lazy habit."

Drew paid a tribute to western pole vaulters and hurdlers.

"The west has the best hurdlers," said he. "That is because they originated and practiced the style of lifting the front foot over. The east is now adopting that method successfully.

"None of the eastern colleges have as many consistent twelve-foot performers with the vaulting pole as California university and Stanford, although the east still holds the record."

Edsel Ford, son of Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, has written to the management of the Anthony hotel asking for reservations for the night of May 27. He will be accompanied by a party of ten on their way to Indianapolis to attend the automobile races in that city. Many celebrities in the automobile world will be here on the night of May 27 from Detroit and other cities, Fort Wayne being sort of a half-way point.

ANOTHER PLAYGROUND.

One Will Soon Be Installed at Taylor and Broadway.

A playground is soon to be installed at the northeast corner of Taylor and Broadway, on the ground recently donated to the city school board by the Centlivre Brewing company. The board will install swings, bars, slides and other things for the amusement of children.

A new slide has been erected in the Lakeside park and several swings and slides have been placed on the ground back of the Jefferson school.

In 1910, 2,491 counties in all the states of the union showed 708 in which the rural population was less than ten years previous.

ABUNDANCE ATTAINED.

"Strange," said the first tramp, meditatively, "how few of our youthful dreams ever come true!"

"Oh, I dunno!" said his companion. "I remember when I used to dream about wearin' long pants, and now I guess I wear 'em longer than any one else in the country."—Ladies' Home Journal.

GIRL WIDOW OF TITANIC HERO MAY WED ANOTHER MILLIONAIRE.

Mrs. Madeline Force Astor and Clarence H. Mackay, whose engagement is rumored.

Is Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, widow of Col. John Jacob Astor, hero of the Titanic disaster, soon to become Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay?

New York society would like to know, but neither Mrs. Astor nor Mackay will confirm the report that the social gossips are persistently spreading about their marriage.

Mrs. Astor, who is only 22 years old, is the wealthiest widow in America. Her three-year-old son, John Jacob Astor, will be worth $100,000,000 if he lives to maturity. Mackay was divorced from Mrs. Katherine Mackay, now the wife of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, in February, 1914. He has three children.

Money! Money!!

But it isn't everything—

There's far more satisfaction in bounding health and the ability to be comfortable.

When health has slipped away through wrong habits of diet, the only way to get it back is to change food.

Grape-Nuts

is scientifically prepared food, and contains all the rich nutriment of wheat and barley—including their invaluable mineral content—necessary for sound nourishment of one's mental and physical forces.

With a clear head to steer a strong body you can do things and win. Both can be built by proper food, and turned to money and comfort.

Grape-Nuts food is delicious, richly nourishing, and easily digestible—undisputedly the most scientific food in the world.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE VALLEY OF THE MISSING."

Grace Miller White's Throbbing Drama Seen at the Jefferson.

Grace Miller White, the brilliant young author of "The Valley of the Missing," as picturized for the Fox Film corporation, stands at the head and front of her craft. Hundreds of thousands of Miss White's books have gone into the eager hands of readers all over the world, and her works are unusually popular even at this moment. Miss White is also the author of "Tess of the Storm Country," which is perhaps her best known work. An interesting incident is told regarding the occasion when Miss White witnessed the photo-played version of her novel, which has the beautiful young metropolitan star, Jane Miller, in the leading role. So moved was the authoress at the big scene in the play that she burst into tears, unashamed.

"It is wonderful—magnificent," she exclaimed. "Although I created the people who move in this picture, I feel quite awe-stricken as I watch them move across the screen. To me it was like a beautiful dream." The Paramount Travel pictures, showing some interesting and enlightening views of South America are projected with the feature of the day.

AT THE COLONIAL

EXPRESS TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RIVER.

Vitagraph Spends $50,000 to Make One Scene in "The Juggernaut," Colonial.

With a roar and a screech like the death wail of some mammoth prehistoric animal, an entire express train, consisting of a train of coaches and a giant locomotive, dashed out upon the wavering, spindle-legged bridge that spans with ribbons of steel and cross-layers of rotting timber the deep, swift rolling waters of the Delaware river. As the train reaches the center of the bridge, the shaking structure shudders as if stricken with ague, its joists and beams strain to the terrible weight above—and then it weakens. What happens in those following choatic seconds is well-nigh beyond the comprehension of man. And when it is all over. When the muddied waters were once more rolling serenely by, purling in and out among the shredded remnants of the horribly delapidated bridge, there remained a scene that will stick in the memory for years to come. It is that of a young man, leaning—white faced—over a beautiful girl, lying limp and pallid near the lapping waters of the river. Her father was the president of the road. He had said—"Leave that bridge alone, we can't afford the money to fix it."

In this tremendous drama, "The Juggernaut," Earle Williams is the young man; Anita Stewart is his beautiful young sweetheart. They are only two of the Vitagraph celebrities in this remarkable photo-drama. If you don't see it at the Colonial today, tomorrow or Saturday, you've missed the biggest "movie" sensation in years.

THE MAY SALE OF WHITE

It isn't like other sales—any more than this store is like other stores, although it is a sale of summer lingerie, table linens, household linens, bed spreads, sheets and pillow cases and towels, longcloths and all those other summer and all-the-year-around white goods.

First, it is a sale that has quality for its theme, not some make-believe quality, but quality that will tell in the wear, that is seen in every seam of every garment, quality that is recognized when you take up any piece of damask in your hand and feel the weight and body of it.

It is a sale that we've been months planning—to make it the best we've ever held—and even if it would gratify us very little if we didn't know that in every case the qualities are the same or better, the assortments wider, the prices lower or, in spite of conditions, as low as any we have ever quoted.

We Can Offer the Greatest White Stocks We've Ever Assembled for any May Sale of White We've Ever Held

Why Do I Turn White When Scared?

Simply because, when you are scared or frightened, the blood almost leaves your face entirely. Under normal conditions, the red blood which is flowing through the arteries of your face gives the face a reddish tinge, and your face becomes white when you are frightened, because then the blood leaves the face. It is quite singular, but when you are really frightened, whatever the cause may be, the human system receives such a shock that the heart just about stops beating altogether. When your heart stops beating of course the flow of the blood from the heart stops and then there is no supply of fresh red blood coming through the arteries under the skin of your face. Therefore you look white—the color your face would be if no blood ever flowed through your arteries and veins. Some people have faces so white they look as though they were scared all the time. This is not because they have no blood flowing through the veins and arteries in their faces, but because their supply of blood is less than other people's and sometimes because the walls of their arteries and veins are so much thicker than the average that the color of the blood does not show through. There are also many people who have so much blood in their systems all the time, and the walls of whose arteries are so thin, that they look at all times as though they might be blushing.

AMERICAN TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

American Express Company Sees Indication of Big Business.

George C. Taylor, president of the American Express company, announces the extension of the company's activities to Russia and the appointment of Edward F. Wales-Smith commercial agent at Petrograd. Mr. Wales-Smith was traffic agent of the American Express company at Paris, France, for several years. The closing lines of a letter issued by President Taylor, defining the position of the American Express, reads as follows:

"To further the mutual enterprises already existing and to reinforce the activities of our representatives at Petrograd we are sending A. C. Spencer, of our export freight department, New York City, to Russia on May 22nd, with instructions to visit Petrograd, Libau, Riga, Moscow, Archangel, and other Russian cities for the purpose of placing Russian importers in touch with American suppliers and to put in operation arrangements that will simplify the methods now employed in shipping between the respective countries."

MANY ORDERS FOR CARS.

Pennsy Leads With Orders for 14,500 Freighters.

(Daily Iron Trade.)

The Pennsylvania lines east and west have closed for 14,500 freight cars and seventy-five locomotives, with proposals for 1,000 automobile cars for the lines west still open. The distribution among builders has not yet formally been announced, but six builders, including the American Car and Foundry company, the Cambria Steel company, the Pressed Steel Car company, the Standard Steel Car company, the Ralston Steel Car company and the Haskell & Barker Car company, received orders in varying numbers.

Of the locomotive orders, the Lima Locomotive corporation, Lima, Ohio, took twenty-five and the American Locomotive company took a considerable number. The passenger coaches have not yet been placed.

The steel requirements of the cars actually placed with builders easily reach 200,000 tons. This is the largest car order put out in more than a year. The Pennsylvania railroad will close also in a day or two on 138,000 tons of steel rails. On this business the Algoma Steel company, of Canada, is understood to have submitted a low price.

COULDN'T FIND A CORPSE.

But the Section Foreman Reported Finding Pile of Coat.

When a Pennsylvania freight train arrived at Hamlet last night, the engineer reported that he saw the body of a man lying between the tracks a short distance west of the station. The section foreman was routed out of bed and instructed to go after and bring the corpse in. He reported, after walking over the tracks three or four miles that no dead body could be found. He found, however, a pile of coal between the two main tracks which he said could be easily mistaken by the man in the cab for a human body. The incident caused considerable amusement among the force at the trainmaster's office and the claims department. "It illustrates the watchfulness of the engineer, however," said one of the attaches of the office.

RETURNS TO OLD POSITION.

George Dinne is again foreman of the casting cleaning department at the Bass foundry, after an absence of a year. Last May, Dinne, who had been at the Bass works eight years without visiting his wife and other relatives in Macedonia, took a leave of absence and went to his native country to see the folks and possibly prevail upon Mrs. Dinne to come to America. The European war and some other matters interfered with his plans and Mrs. Dinne will not come here until some time later. She expects to join her husband here, however, and to make this her home in the future.

VALPO STUDENTS GOING HOME.

All Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate passenger trains, except the flyers, are carrying students from the Valparaiso university today, this being the closing day of the term. There were 500 pupils enrolled and most of them left Valparaiso today or will leave tonight. Neither road had special trains, but all trains engaged in the business carried extra cars. District Passenger Agent F. P. Parmin, of the Nickel Plate, has been at Valparaiso for several days.

CAR ROBBERS INDICTED.

Capt. H. C. Stoll, of the Pennsylvania police department, has been advised that the grand jury at Lima, Ohio, returned indictments of burglary, grand and petit larceny against William T. Cunningham and George M. Colton. January 26 these men broke into a Pennsylvania car at Lima and stole a number of cigars, selling them later to eleven dealers. All the cigars were recovered and the thieves were arrested February 10 through the efforts of the Pennsylvania police and the police at Lima.

BRAKEMAN KARNS AT HOSPITAL.

James E. Karns, the Pennsylvania brakeman, who had a leg broken by falling as he attempted to get on the caboose at Van Wert, as mentioned by The Sentinel last night, was brought to the city at 4 o'clock last night and taken to St. Joseph hospital. The fractured limb is doing first rate, but it will be some weeks before Mr. Karns can resume work on the road.

T. W. Demarest, superintendent of motive power, and W. L. Wilt, chief clerk of the department, went to Chicago this morning on business for the Pennsylvania.

R. J. Fisher left last night for Columbus on business for the Bass Foundry and Machine company. He will also visit Cincinnati and Indianapolis before he returns home.

Passenger Conductor B. F. Stonecifer of the Lake Erie and Western, is sick and unable to take charge of his train. His place is being filled by Conductor Bardeau, of Muncie, Ind.

A. L. Hadley and J. H. Evans, the former the chief engineer and the latter the chief shop clerk of the Fort Wayne Electric works, are at Schenectady, N. Y., on business for the company.

The Happy Neighborhood

LAFAYETTE PLACE

Club House

An agreeable, fascinating social life, centering around the Community Club House will be a most attractive feature of Lafayette Place.

Afternoon functions for the wives and daughters, good-fellowship in the evening for the men; billiards, cards, dancing and other pastimes—all these and more will make Lafayette Place a most delightful neighborhood in which to live.

And then there will be

for the children where they may romp to their hearts' content, safe from all dangers, while mothers are free from worry.

The Lafayette Place company has donated to the buyers of these lots a Community Club House which will cost $5,000 or more, and will equip at its own expense the children's playgrounds in addition to giving the ground for both.

People You Like

will live in this new neighborhood on South Calhoun street. They will be no richer and no poorer than you. Our right to reject any sale, combined with building restrictions, will assure buyers of Lafayette Place an occupied neighborhood of the highest plane.

in Lafayette Place or in any of the nearby additions; there never will be any saloons, for the deeds to the lots prevent them. There is not and never will be a factory belching forth smoke and grime near Lafayette Place. Groceries, markets and such stores will be handy—they are today—but they will not encroach on the residence streets that comprise Lafayette Place.

Act Today

Your disappointment will be great if you do not take steps to secure a lot in this addition; for today it is possible, very easy in fact, with the small monthly payments; but five years from now will see such an increase in values that a home site in Lafayette Place may be out of the question for you.

NEUTRALITY GIVEN BREACH BY POLICE

Members of German Band Pinched on Charge of Drunkenness.

What appears to be a bold and wanton breach of neutrality was committed Wednesday evening by the police when John Durdewald and John Martin, two jolly members of a "little German band" that has been serenading Fort Wayne people, were arrested and immured for the night in the noisome dungeon at headquarters. They were charged with being drunk. The proprietor of an East Main street barber shop complained that the band had created a disturbance at his place and annoyed him and his patrons, though it developed that the tonsorial artist probably had "no music in himself and is not moved by concord of sweet sounds," for he threw water on the musicians, who then fell into the spirit of the fun by poking the bells of their horns into the doorway and shot their harmonies directly into the ears of the occupants of the place. Fred Rossellot, proprietor of a saloon on Barr street, also complained that one of the bandsmen had taken a pool ball from his place, but there was no evidence to fasten that high crime and misdemeanor on the prisoners. Durdewald and Martin denied that they were drunk, but admitted that they had spent a couple of hours at a brewery late in the afternoon. They proved to be good-natured and intelligent young Germans and had traveled all over the United States. Judge Kerr continued the cases until Friday morning and the musicians furnished cash bond for their appearance. They had the entire sympathy of all the attaches and crowd at the city court.

Nasty Mess is Uncovered.

A nasty mess was uncovered in the city court by the trial of Fred Hensinger, a young paroled convict from Jeffersonville, and Mrs. Hilda Walker, who were arrested at the Walker home, 1732 Broadway, Wednesday night, and charged with adultery. The pair were occupying the same bed when the officers got them, but both denied on the witness stand that they had been guilty of wrong-doing. Mrs. Walker has four young children, the oldest of which is aged 11 years, and these have been taken by Police Matron Fannie M. Winch and Humane Officer William Clutter to the detention home of the Fort Wayne Relief union. Mrs. Walker admitted on the stand that she was deeply in love with Hensinger, a soft confession in which her paramour did not join, and a letter written by her to him further proved it. The police say that Mrs. Walker's husband has left her because of her conduct and that Hensinger has been living with her. The cases were continued until Saturday morning and the bond of each was fixed at $300.

Bicycle Thief Convicted.

Tom Trumpet, an Italian, was found guilty, after a prolonged hearing, on a charge of petit larceny and was fined $10 and costs and given a suspended sentence of ten days. He paid the fine. He stole a bicycle last March on Calhoun street from John Emmett, a bright and interesting youth, who resides at 420 East Wayne street, painted it over, removed the maker's label and otherwise sought to disguise the machine. Trumpet told an elaborate, but palpably false story of having purchased the wheel in Pittsburg. The case against him was conclusive.

Other City Court Cases.

Jim Kelly, who had a souse and made trouble at the Pennsylvania pay car Wednesday evening, was fined $1 and costs.

John Daly, William Deuel, James Callon and Joe Palmer, charged with loitering, were closely questioned because they had just come from Defiance, O., where a man was thrown from a Baltimore and Ohio freight train by tramps and received fatal injuries. The men told stright stories and were released to leave the city at once.

John "Neversweat" Lee was in and loudly denied he was drunk, but was still so well lit up that his case was continued until Friday.

Homer Burris, white, and George Wilson and Robert Drake, negroes, arrested for loitering were turned loose.

Joe Smith, whose prowling about a Buchanan street home early Wednesday morning caused a burglar alarm to be sent to police headquarters, still insisted he was too drunk to know what he was doing. He was allowed to go.

John May, arrested several weeks ago on a loitering charge, was disposed of by a dismissal. An injury to one of his legs has developed gangrene and it is said that his leg must be amputated. He is now in a hospital.

The loitering charges against Fred Unger, Frank Fern, Murt Davis, Ray Davis, Frank Cook, James Morrison and James Smith were dismissed by the prosecutor after their true names were ascertained. Unger is the bartender and the others were loungers found in the Fleckenstein saloon on West Main street, when the place was raided by the police on Sunday, May 9. They are wanted for witnesses in the circuit court, to which tribunal Fleckenstein appealed his case from the city court.

BURGLARS TAKEN AWAY.

Chief of Police Lenz, on Wednesday evening, turned over to Officers J. L. Thompson and L. H. Greiner, of Leipsic, Ohio, the three men who were arrested here Tuesday by Detective Sergeant Pappert and who are wanted in the Ohio town for burglary. They were taken there Thursday night. The authorities of Troy, Ohio, were also prepared to claim the men, who confessed to burglary in that city, but Leipsic had the first call.

104,000 Men

In the jungles and fields, in our factories, etc., 104,000 men are employed to meet the demand for Goodyear tires.

No other tire commands anywhere near such favor. And this spring has shown, in sales to dealers, an increase of 52 per cent.

Extra Values

The reason is, we fortify our tires. We give the best that others give, plus five exclusive features. In costly ways, employed by no one else, we combat:

Rim-Cuts	Insecurity
Blowouts	Punctures
Loose Treads	Skidding

And we never skimp. Despite all price reductions, Goodyears are better than ever. Lately we have added three conspicuous improvements.

Some Goodyear supremacies can be seen at a glance. Compare size and thickness with the average tire. Compare number of fabric plies.

Prices Down

Goodyear has made in about two years three great price reductions, totaling 45 per cent. The last was on February 1st. Our matchless output enables a value which no other maker can duplicate.

Goodyears mean less trouble, less upkeep. That is proved by our exclusive features, our dominant place, and the swelling Goodyear tide. We urge you to join this army. Any dealer will supply you.

Liquor and Public Utilities in Indiana Politics

Taking for his subject, "Liquor and Public Utilities in Indiana Politics," Theodore F. Thiem spoke as follows at the citizens' meeting, Wednesday evening at the assembly room of the court house:

Every attempt to bring about reforms in governmental conditions in city, county or state, bumps up hard against two powerful obstacles—public utilities and liquor. To ignore these two forces would be as useless as the attempt of a prisoner to escape from jail without considering steel bars and guards. In fact our subjected citizenship, deprived completely of self-government, can well be described as surrounded and held in bounds by a wall built up of an old state constitution and reinforced by innumerable stifling laws. On this wall are massed, like guards of a penitentiary, the agents of public utilities and liquor keeping vigil every minute of the day and night, prepared at all times to quickly quell any rising of the citizenship within.

Invisible Government.

The hardest jolt I ever received in my many years of public activities was given me in the session of the 1913 legislature, during my efforts on behalf of the business system of city government bill. It was then that I saw, for the first time, the "invisible" forces of government at work; and after our bill received the final contemptuous kick that landed it in the legislative scrap pile, I decided to find out more about these "political villains" who had been performing all these years, and whose features had been so successfully screened that few people knew them. Digging my way to the rear of the political stage and into the secret dressing rooms I found a strange mixture of performers. Mingling together, in most intimate and friendly relations, there were gentlemen wearing silk hats and dress coats, others wearing cocked hats and plate glass fronts, some wearing white aprons over bay-window waistcoats, and still others wearing ragged coats with shining elbows. These men were recognized as bankers and business men, brewers, saloonkeepers, gamblers and down-and-outs of various descriptions. They represented the best citizens with the worst citizens. Many of these were friends and acquaintances, men whom I had never thought of as being engaged in the disgraceful and disreputable business of bribing, beating, cheating and robbing the people. I was amazed and stunned; it was a great shock to me, as it had been to others before me. But it was a shock that awakened me, and I have been trying to keep awake ever since.

I know now that for years these two powerful interests—public franchise corporations and liquor—have been working together silently, discreetly, graspingly, heartlessly; one furnishing the brains and the money, the other the workers and the votes. While one gathered franchise privileges and plunder, the other got public offices and secured exemption from regulation for the brewer, the saloon and their discreditable allies. So it happens even now, in this year of our Lard 1915, that our whole system of government in city, county and state, is constructed to serve, first, last and all the time, public utilities and the saloon. And what these two interests require more than all else, in order that they may flourish unrestrained, is bad government, and bad government is expensive to the people, not only in dollars but in a hundred other ways.

The question arises: Why should public utilities and liquor form a partnership? Why should they control our government? Why should they be corrupt and why should they collectively inflict untold hardship on the people and cast a blight on citizenship and progress, when, individually, these men want to be respected citizens and good neighbors?

Apathy and Ignorance.

Before digging up a little history, let me say a few words on the "apathy of the people." It is true; the people are politically apathetic, indifferent and careless, but why? There may be other reasons, but there are none more potent than ignorance of the subject. It is human nature for people to be indifferent or careless about things of which they are ignorant or of which they have false ideas, and this is the reason that people are apathetic in the performance of their political and civic duties; but who is to blame?

People are educated in schools, colleges and universities, so the blame must rest there. I cannot, in this short address, go into the details of this phase of the subject, but will content myself with making the broad statement that our whole educational system is suffering from the coercive and dictatorial influence of public utilities and liquor. Our educators have been made to feel the advisability of confining their teachings to the old, well grooved, academic order of things. Occasional attempts on the part of progressive educators to include in their work the useful studies of real live civics and other timely subjects necessary to make and build up citizenship, have been curbed by the numerous devices known to professional politicians. What is being done today in the state of Indiana—in private schools, public schools, colleges or universities—to make conscious citizens in a broad sense of the word? I say practically nothing. Does this not explain why the people are apathetic? To cultivate apathy among the people, I claim, is one of the many methods used by public utilities to maintain bad government.

A New Constitution and Home Rule for Cities.

Now for a little history. In 1816 the state of Indiana had its first constitutional convention and framed a constitution. In 1851 we had a second constitutional convention, at which time our present constitution was framed. A constitution is the fundamental or organic law of the state. We hear of our constitution principally in court decisions declaring a law unconstitutional.

In 1851 we had no cities; the largest town had a population of about 8,000. These towns had no street cars, no gas, water, electric lights, no police or fire departments, no street paving and few schools and colleges. There was nothing of value operated in, or owned by our towns worth stealing or giving away. So the constitutional convention continued the old system of making the legislature the guardian of the town. The town was treated like a child, the legislature like a father; but the town grew into a city—the child into a man, and the legislature degenerated into an old and feeble weakling, and became the tool of wicked and designing men. The cities, like big boys, were full of life and ambition, and were rapidly gaining in wealth. It was then that these evil forces got control of the feeble old weakling, the legislature, and used its authority and power to exploit the dependent cities. Think of it! These great powerful cities, these fine, grown-up men, must go to the legislature, which is now an old, feeble, corrupt, boss-owned wreck, and beg for every dollar, for every privilege, for every reform and for every change. And do they get it? It all depends upon the mood or physical condition of the old man, if sober or drunk, and upon the attitude of his evil advisers, the public utilities and liquor bosses.

It must be clear to all why a new constitution with home rule for cities is fought desperately by public utilities and their agents, the saloon and the boss, by the partisan newspaper and by the public officials from the state governor and city mayor, down to the street sweeper.

Public Utilities.

The modern city is a business organization; that is to say, it is organized to conduct city business. There are many functions to perform; some are profitable to the city and some are unprofitable. Street car, gas, electric light and water services, which go under the name of public utilities, are profitable enterprises. Fire and police departments, street paving, public schools, building of streets and sewers, etc.—these are unprofitable enterprises. There is no scrap or agitation about who is to own the unprofitable ones; no arguments on public ownership or private ownership of these, like there is about the profitable ones; no arguments that a city cannot run its fire, police, school or sewer departments. But we are constantly reminded by the paid agents of the profitable enterprises that the city cannot run street cars, or furnish gas, light and water for a city. What is the difference? Well, about the only difference is the one that is never mentioned. The street cars, etc., are profitable—they are immense money makers. The public schools, fire departments, etc., are unprofitable—are immense money losers. Now would not common sense teach anybody possessed with a few grains of good business judgment, that if certain departments in a business of necessity lose money, there must be other departments which make enough money to at least offset the losses. If any individual or corporation should be so foolish as to give away the profitable departments and keep the unprofitable ones, a commission of lunacy would immediately follow. Such a commission is surely needed now for our cities.

And by the way, why should anyone admit that even our cities, bad as they are, cannot run their public utilities. It would not take much to beat the average street car system, or the gas, electric light and water systems, if price, quality and service are considered, such as we find in the average city.

These profitable enterprises of our cities are worth millions upon millions of dollars—not thousands, but millions; that is the reason public utilities are in politics.

Saloon in Politics.

Liquor's case is somewhat different. It is safe to assume that breweries and saloons under normal conditions would have no objection to home rule and correct city government. Home rule and the saloon flourish together throughout the world, excepting in this country. But liquor in this country has become affiliated with and supported vice, gambling and corruption in many forms, and has refused to be regulated. Competition among brewers has given us more saloons than the public could support and has installed many undesirable saloonkeepers. To protect themselves from regulation and control they entered into politics. When public utilities took over our political parties, they also annexed the saloon, and while the saloon furnished the votes for the public utilities, they in turn furnished campaign money and protection to the saloon, at the same time dividing with the brewers and the bosses the control of public office.

Public Utilities to Take Over the Courts.

Liquor is now in disrepute and the people are determined that the saloon must go. No one knows this better than public utilities, and they are preparing to part company and install a new ally. Their plan of action was glaringly disclosed in the twenty-two amendments that were offered the people as a substitute for a new constitution. It must be quite clear to anyone who can read that public utilities have decided to use the courts. Instead of votes, they will depend on court decisions. The "missing link" was furnished when they got the public utility law passed, which is of greatest value if properly interpreted by the courts. The corporation lawyers prepared these twenty-two amendments, and for a raw deal and a vicious program that defies description, those amendments are certainly unsurpassed.

The Stotsenburg Amendment Fiasco.

Section 10 of these amendments proposed to increase the supreme court of the state from five to twelve members, and to give the general assembly the power to divide these into classes of three judges, and to authorize a majority of each class to decide cases. This would have given two judges, out of a court of twelve, the power to declare whether a law is constitutional or unconstitutional, and in fact would have enabled two men, as judges, to be the "law of the land."

Amendment 11 provided that the general assembly could create more than one circuit court in the same county. There are ninety-two counties in the state, and this would have given our legislators the power, not only to create one court, but as many more as they like, in every county of the state.

Amendment 13 provided that no law for the recall of the judiciary shall ever be passed.

These twenty-two amendments not only provided new shackles for the people, but also most effectively drove solid spikes into all other reform measures that the people had been clamoring for. "Home Rule for Cities," taxation and suffrage reforms, initiative and referendum, short ballot, workable methods for amending the constitution or getting a new constitution—all of these measures, with others, were killed outright.

These twenty-two amendments, standing out boldly as the climax of juggling on the part of the most brazen lot of political conspirators and public humbugs that was ever known, were actually passed almost unanimously by the 1913 legislature. This 1913 legislature was a typical illustration of what happened "when the political boss was in flower."

Under our constitution these twenty-two amendments came up again for consideration in the 1915 legislature, and unquestionably would have been passed, but for the exposure of the conspiracy by the Citizens' league. However, through its efforts in bringing these amendments to the attention of the people and by the aid of a few clean, honest and intelligent members of the legislature, these amendments did not pass.

The Public Utility Law Grab.

In the 1913 legislature the public utility lawyers and political bosses put through a state public utility law—a shining example of deception and imposition unheard of before, a law wholly in the interests of public utilities and against the cities, against the people and against local self-government. This law will cost the people of Fort Wayne millions of dollars, with years of fighting, suffering and cussing.

What is, however, of greatest importance is the fact that these two measures, as well as every other vicious law put through this legislature, received its main support, and in fact was apparently promoted by our local political boss, and voted upon in every instance by our local representatives. Until the people understand the fact that the political boss is their worst enemy, a traitor to the people whose whole activity consists in fooling the people in order to sell them out to special interests—until such a time no substantial progress will be made.

Liquor Chooses Our Legislators.

The brewers and saloons have for years selected the members of the legislature, not only in Fort Wayne, but in all the cities of the state. Men are selected who can be relied upon by liquor, and who also can be relied upon to obey the party and the boss; and rarely have the brewers selected the wrong man. In our local primary here in Allen county in 1914, the candidates for the legislature were picked by our controlling political powers according to their known position on liquor legislation. When there was any doubt as to a candidate's position, he was requested to sign a written pledge. Those who did not do this to the satisfaction of the liquor interests of Fort Wayne were tabooed.

Why the Constitutional Convention Bill Was Lost Last November.

We voted last November on a constitutional convention bill. A new constitution is solely in the interest of the people—a plan to give the people an opportunity to introduce laws for their own protection, and yet the measure did not carry, and why?

1st—The bill from its inception was a fraud.

2nd—The people were uninformed and apathetic.

3rd—Our political educational system—the press—was muzzled.

4th—Liquor fought the bill desperately.

5th—Eminently respectable lawyers were induced to send out misleading and false statements over their signatures, advising against the convention.

The fact that seven supreme court judges and nearly one hundred circuit court judges were to be selected by the political machine if the twenty-two amendments passed, may account for much of the activity displayed by certain lawyers in this constitutional convention fight. No man was ever recognized for judgeship or any other high office by the political machine unless he first had the confidence of the bosses and had shown his qualifications; and the kind of qualifications necessary for a political job of this kind was the sort of literature that was distributed by these lawyers during the campaign.

The activity of the saloon was pronounced. Liquor papers furnished daily material against the constitution. The brewers and saloons were active in many directions. Our committee has in its possession fifteen printed circulars, opposing the constitutional convention, and all of these were distributed in one saloon. You will observe that while our schools, colleges and universities are not permitted to teach live civics, that part of our educational system has been assigned to the saloons. They are the laboratory of political science.

For inspiration and information in our fight against public utilities in politics, we need only to read the history of the cities of the world. The debasing activity of public utilities in politics of foreign cities was recognized over there twenty-five and fifty years ago. It was stopped by giving the cities "home rule," enabling them to secure ownership of all utilities. This is the condition of the cities of every civilized country in the world, excepting Russia, Turkey and the United States. Evidently it is in these countries where big business controls the government and the people.

The Saloon Must Go.

However, public utilities could not have secured this strangle-hold on our government without the aid of liquor; and now a nation-wide fight is on against liquor. It is fought on moral, economic, hygienic and political grounds. All comparisons between the saloon in Germany, France or England and this country are of no value, because nowhere else in this whole wide world is the saloon in politics, excepting in the United States.

It is universally agreed that we must reform our inconceivably stupid and corrupt system of city government, and our cities must have "home rule"; we must get control of our government in city and state through the initiative and referendum. These and other measures can be had only through a new constitution; and the lesson of the election last fall is that we cannot expect to get a new constitution until the saloon is eliminated. Judge Anderson in pronouncing sentence on the Terre Haute corruptionists, said:

"My notion is that the saloon will have to go. I believe the time will come when the people will rise up and smash the saloon, at least as we have it now. The evidence in this case showed that the saloons were the centers of nearly all the corruption in the election at Terre Haute."

In conclusion, I desire to say for myself finally that I have no prejudice against liquor. By habit and sentiment I have always favored the legalized sale of liquor as a beverage. I have always had, and now have, friendly personal and business association with men connected with or interested in the liquor business. I am not influenced by the opposition to the use or sale of liquor on moral grounds, but after years of sincere effort toward constructive reforms in government, and particularly city government, I have become firmly convinced that the American saloon is a political evil which we can no longer tolerate. I know that it lies at the base of all our political turpitude. It cannot be regulated; it must be destroyed. Regardless of personal sentiment, I am ready to join hands with every effort in Indiana to bring about the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic.

It is feared by some that the loss of the saloon would be a serious one to the city from a business point of view. I claim that the saloon today is the most expensive institution existing in our cities. The benefits to be gained by "home rule" for our cities, through the introduction of correct business methods and the promotion of citizenship and general progress, will be more in one year than all the benefits the saloon can bring in a hundred years.

The welfare of our cities depends upon progress, upon methods of efficiency, and if we are to consider first the prosperity, the happiness and material welfare of our working people, our business men, our manufacturers—all the people, then we must make this sacrifice, and this sacrifice means the overthrow of the organized liquor traffic. I have been many years coming to this conclusion, but I hold it now as an absolute conviction.

BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES ON FACE

Kept Getting Worse. Very Sore, Inflamed and Unsightly. Itched and Burned. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, In Short Time Well.

Route No. 2, Box 27, Frederic, Wis.—"About a year ago, pimples and blackheads broke out on my face and kept getting worse and worse. At first my face was covered with blackheads and in a short time small red spots appeared here and there which increased very rapidly. My face became very sore and inflamed. The eruptions were very unsightly and disfigured me badly. At times they itched and burned so I had to scratch them and after that they got still worse.

"I used two different remedies but got no good results. I wrote for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and that seemed to give good results so I bought three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. They stopped the burning at once, and in a short time I was entirely well, and all disfigurement was gone." (Signed) Gunard Friberg, November 5, '14.

OLD PLAT SHOWS A BIG FLOOD PLANE

Land North of Old Water Street to St. Mary's Open in 1875.

In connection with a purpose to prevent further encroachment on the natural flood plans of the St. Marys river from old Water street north to the stream Mayor Hosey has been examining an old plat showing the profile of Clinton street in 1875. This drawing indicates that in that time and before the St. Marys had plenty of room to get away in flood times before Clinton street was constructed and made a dam across the plane. The drawing also shows the high water marks of floods in March, 1868 and in March, 1869, at which times the water rose to a great height over the plane. The flood line of the spring of 1875 is very much lower. Mayor Hosey believes that one measure of relief that will be included in the flood prevention plans is a cut-off from the St. Mary's river east of Harrison street across the intervening territory to a point in the river just north of the gas works. The earth taken from this channel he thinks could be well used to raise the level of the territory included in the baseball grounds and adjoining land. The mayor's investigation of the old plat was brought about by his discovery that the Indiana Lighting company is dumping cinders and otherwise encroaching on the old flood plane in the vicinity of the gas works. The company will be notified to stop its encroachments.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ONLY MAN WILSON TAKES ORDERS FROM

He's Dr. Grayson, U. S. N., the "Health Master" to the White House.

(Editor's Note.—Keeping the "man of the hour" well!

How is it done?

Here is the answer, told for the first time, and told by the man who does it!

Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., "health

master" to Woodrow Wilson, knows the president's personality better perhaps than any man in America.

Today, in the columns of the Sentinel, he tells his story for the first time. Realizing that in this historic crisis the minds of all Americans are fixed upon their chief executive, Dr. Grayson granted Correspondent Payne the following interview in Washington.)

(By Kenneth W. Payne.)

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The whole world has "put it up to Wilson."

The nations of Europe have asked in unison, "What will President Wilson do?" and in unison a hundred million Americans have answered, "Whatever he does, we'll stand by him."

Surely a more tremendous burden of responsibility has never been heaved upon one individual. For the time, the future course of history is hanging in the balance of his hand.

How does President Wilson stand such a fearful strain?

Millions of citizens of the United States, who have come to love their president better in the present period of trial than they ever have before, are asking the question with most sincere solicitude. Have they exacted more from their president than his health would bear?

"No; President Wilson today is in better physical shape than he has been at any time since he was inaugurated."

The answer is that of the president's "health master" himself, Dr. Carey T. Grayson, U. S. N., and squirm as he will to escape the praise, Dr. Grayson himself must take credit for the fact, or shall we say, to please Dr. Grayson, that the credit must be divided between himself and President Wilson's indomitable will.

"For the first few months after his inauguration, Mr. Wilson worked far too hard!" said Dr. Grayson. "He objected strenuously to the regime upon which I insisted. But I persuaded him that it was his duty, not alone to himself, but to the nation as a whole, to take the most perfect care possible of his health.

"And today President Wilson realizes this. Often when it would be much easier for him to finish the press of work which surrounds him, he forces himself to lay aside his labors and take the exercise in the open upon which his health and hence his greatest efficiency in the service of his country depend.

"On Saturdays he invariably takes a holiday. We have a standard appointment for breakfast together, and then we start out for a long drive or a game of golf—generally it is golf. My great effort is to draw the president's mind completely from the heavy responsibilities of his office, and with the mental concentration necessary to play a fair game of golf, and the anecdotes we interchange, the effort is usually successful.

The president's famous game of golf on the Saturday the Lusitania horror broke in an outraged world illustrates his systematic control in the face of the most appalling of problems.

"The president's regime on week days," Dr. Grayson continued, "is almost as invariable. He breakfasts at 8, works until noon, and after luncheon he and I go out to the links for golf. Three solid hours nearly every day in the week are thus given to exercise in the open air. It is not easy for the president to spare this time, but its results are shown in Mr. Wilson's present state of health.

"On his return from the links the president accomplishes an hour's work before dinner, and he is at his desk again in the evening, but is invariably in bed at 10 and has nine hours' sleep."

To this regularity of the president, his careful diet, his enforced exercise and his keen sense of humor, Dr. Grayson attributes largely his physical ability to stand the great strain of his office.

For two years Dr. Grayson has been President Wilson's inseparable companion. Yet with astonishing success he has kept himself completely out of the public eye.

Dr. Grayson is the only man from whom the president of the United States takes orders and he is just thirty-six!

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, May 20.—Fear of black rust led today to an upturn in prices of wheat. Bullish crop reports from Indiana tended also to cause an advance. Opening prices, which varied from ¼c off to ⅝c up, were followed by decided gains all around and then a moderate reaction.

The close was unsettled at ⅝c to 1¼c net advance.

Corn hardened in sympathy with the action of wheat and owing to less favorable weather. After opening a shade to ⅝c higher, the market continued to rise.

The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ½c above last night.

Oats reflected the strength of other cereals.

Firmness of grain and hogs affected provisions.

NORTH AMERICAN BUILDING

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, May 20.—Prices tended downward again at the outset of today's market operations, the only exceptions being certain of the war specialties, which recorded gains of one to three points. Standard shares, including the speculative leaders, were fractionally lower. Secondary quotations were better, the general list showing marked recoveries before the end of the first half hour. Trading was relatively light.

Stocks made further recovery after the declines, particularly the specialties, Bethlehem Steel rising six points while standard railways, United States Steel and the coppers shook off their initial heaviness. Later, however, the entire list reacted and grew dull partly as a result of the increasing weakness in Chesapeake & Ohio and a three-point decline in Rock Island.

Bonds were heavy, with one and two-point declines in Rock Island and Missouri Pacific underlying issues.

A sudden advance of three points in Missouri Pacific, followed by an equally abrupt decline of 2¼, was the only feature of the late trading. The close was steady.

HAVE BROKEN RUSSIAN LINE

Petrograd Admits Austro-German Forces Have Crossed San.

EFFORT TO CHECK DRIVE IS FAILURE

Austrian Guns Now Hammering Away at City of Przemysl.

London, May 20.—The Russian fortified line along the river San, running across Central Galicia, on which great reliance was placed to check the Austro-German advance, has been definitely broken. Statements of the Teutonic allies that they had crossed the river are confirmed in an official announcement from Petrograd. Przemysl, which Russia won from Austria after a struggle of several months, is now under attack by Austrian guns. One of the greatest battles is apparently impending along the San. In the north Russians claim successes against the German force, which invaded the Baltic provinces. It is said the Germans have been expelled from Shavli.

Dislodged From Shavli.

A Russian official statement issued at Petrograd received by the Reuter Telegram company, says: "Until now the Germans dare not admit they were dislodged from Shavli on the 11th and they talk of repulsing all sorts of Russian attacks against that town. Nevertheless our front in this region passes to a considerable distance west of Shavli. German official communications augment more than four fold the actual number of prisoners taken at the crossing of the Dubysa river.

"All German efforts against our position east of Drohobycz in Galicia have failed. Up until the present time there was only a single regiment of Russian cavalry garrisoned in the town of Drohobycz. These troops fell quickly behind the infantry with insignificant losses. The Austrians, nevertheless, had the audacity to claim officially that they took 5,000 prisoners at Drohobycz."

AUSTRIANS MAKE STAND.

Big Battle Now Expected Behind River San.

Berlin, May 20.—(Via London 12:01 p. m.)The correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger at Austrian field headquarters has sent in a dispatch reading: "The Austrians have assembled reinforcements behind the river San and have made preparations for a stand. We must therefore anticipate a big battle in the near future. The Teutonic allies already have gained several strong footholds on the other side of the river San and the ring around Przemysl steadily is growing smaller."

A correspondent of the Associated Press at Czernowitz wires that fighting there is continuous and that shrapnel is being used largely against the German and Austrian positions around the city.

POISON WEED CRAZES SHEEP.

More Than 1,100 Dead Near Hamlet of Boyds, Wash.

Spokane, Wash., May 20.—More than 1,100 sheep are dead within a radius of three miles from Boyds, a hamlet seventy-five miles north of Spokane, as the result of eating white camas weed, was the report made here today by L. J. Minnick, a state food inspector. Crazed by the weed, part of the sheep ran wild through the town until they died in convulsions, while hundreds plunged into the Kettle river and were drowned. The sheep were part of a flock of 1,900 shipped there a few days ago to be pastured in the forest reserve.

RETIRED EMPLOYE OF NICKEL PLATE DIES

Fred. R. Bierbaum Expires After an Illness of Eight Months.

Fred R. Bierbaum, a retired employe of the Nickel Plate railroad, died Wednesday evening at 11:30 o'clock at the family residence, 1230 Barthold street, at the age of 68 years and 1 month. Death was due to a complication of diseases and followed an illness of eight months during which time he had been to the St. Joseph hospital for treatment. All efforts put forth on the part of the attending physicians seemed to be of no avail and his condition continued to become worse.

FRED R. BIERBAUM.

Mr. Bierbaum was born in Westphalen, Germany, but came to America and direct to Fort Wayne forty-two years ago and took employment with the Wabash Railroad company. Later when the Nickel Plate road was built he worked for that company, in whose employment he remained until he retired several years ago.

He was a devout member of St. John's Reformed church and had served for many years on the official board of that congregation. His first wife died eighteen years ago and three years later he was married to Mrs. Minnie Beidelmann, who survives him, as do two daughters and one son: Mrs. Joseph Long, of this city; Mrs. Francis S. Russell, of Chicago, and Edwin Bierbaum, of this city. Twelve grandchildren and four stepsons, John, William, Fred and Albert Beidelmann, of this city, also survive him.

Paul H. Koenig, a cigarmaker, for the past ten years with the Cooney Bayer company, has started in business for himself at 610 East Jefferson street, making the Regal cigar.
